The Grand Army to Go to Indiana.

Annual Reports of the Officers Submitted.

The Veterans Enjoy Themselves Sight-Seeing.

The Blue and the Gray Shake Hands

And the Men Who Fought Face to Face Are Now Shoulder to Shoulder in Support of One Flag.

Washington, Sept. 22.—To-morrow will be the last day of the encampment and the veterans are making the most of the few hours that remain before they part for another year.

Thousands of the old soldiers, and especially the survivors of the army of the Potomac, have taken advantage of the battle field excursions, and all the historic spots within a hundred miles of Washington are to-day thronged with veterans, pointing out the positions of their regiments and the places where the battle raged fiercest.

In imagination they are living the old days over again, and the joy and exultation they feel as they look upon the scenes of their victories is the reward of their heroic service.

It is not a personal or a sectional feeling, but merely the consciousness of a good deed well done. Hundreds of veterans who wore the butternut and marched beneath the stars and bars may be seen among the boys in blue, and on the historic ground where a few years ago they were ranged against each other in deadly strife, they are now exchanging stories of the brave deeds of their comrades with as much gusto as if they had fought shoulder to shoulder instead of face to face.

After a day of reminiscences spent among the scenes of the war the veterans will flock back to Washington to-night to attend the reception which takes place in the pension office building.

Special pains have been taken to make this reception one of the most brilliant affairs of the reunion. The program and invitations are works of art and will be prized as momentoes of the occasion.

The great hall of the pension office has been sumptuously decorated, and the surroundings will in every way harmonize with the patriotic program which has been prepared.

After a half hour's concert by the Marine band the speech of the evening will be delivered by Vice President Morton, and Commander-in-Chief Palmer will respond on behalf of the Grand Army.

These will be the only speeches, the musical part of the program, which will be supplied by the American choral society, being given more than usual prominence. The last number will be the Star Spangled Banner, which will be recited by Charles B. Hanford. At the close of the recitation the national colors will be brought into the hall by a guard of honor, while the Marine band plays "Rally 'Round the Flag." The whole audience will then join in singing the Star Spangled Banner and the last great gathering of the reunion will then be at an end.

REPORTS.

Information of Interest to the Grand Army Boys.

The report of the adjutant general, Fred Phisterer, begins with the statement that when Commander-in-Chief Palmer assumed office there were pratically no funds on hand to carry on the business of the adjutant general's office, except $16,000 in United States bonds, which it was not deemed wise to sell, and no income was expected until after December 31, last. Consequently the most rigid economy was necessary. The total expenditures of his office during the fiscal year aggregate $11,800, and as the per capita tax of two cents per member produces an income of but $8,000, the adjutant general says that the tax is plainly insufficient, and should be at least three cents per member per annum.

He says the semi-annual returns from posts and departments are unnecessary, and that annual reports will suffice. He also calls the present inspection system unsatisfactory and cumbersome, and thinks that the installing officer of a post could also act as its inspector. A revision of the present rules and regulations is also recommended. The number of persons entitled to seats at the present encampment is stated at 1,148, of which 453 are representatives at large and apportioned according to membership December 31, last.

The adjutant general devotes a page of his report to a history of the events attending the refusal of the officers of the department of Louisiana and Mississippi to recognize as entitled to membership nine colored posts, duly organized and chartered and recognized as valid by Comrades Alger and Veazey, preceding commanders-in-chief.

The adjutant general tells how the department officers were suspended for insubordination and how finally a reorganization was effected with the loss of five posts. He says: "The suspended officers have not been brought to trial for disobedience to your orders, as in your fraternal feeling you believed that their course was dictated more by prejudice and bad counsel than by willfulness."

During the last calendar year, as shown by the report, there was a gain of 229 in the number of posts, making the total number 7,568. During the calendar year there was a gain in membership of 64,401; but the losses were 66,109, leaving the number of members in good standing December 31 last at 407,781, an apparent loss of 1,708. This loss is said to be apparent, because in one department it was found that nearly 3,000 had been added without authority, and the returns previously made were incorrect, so that there was actually a gain of about 1,200 in the total strength of the organization.

During the year the deaths numbered 6,404; honorably discharged, 1,829; transfers, 9,460; suspensions, 34,367; dishonorable discharges, 467, and delinquents, 13,582. The adjutant general comments shortly on these losses, and says: "Practically it may be said that the membership of the G. A. R. is now at its highest point. It will no doubt remain about the above numbers for a few years to come, when, necessarily, it must decrease, and the decrease will be rapid."

The report closes with a statement compiled from department returns that from July 1, 1891, to December 1, 1891, $96,011 was expended by the various posts for the relief of unfortunate comrades, soldiers, widows and orphans, and the total expenditure on that score from July 1, 1871, to June 30, 1891, was $2,221,704. The adjutant general believes that these figures are not correct, and says that there is no doubt the actual amount was larger.

The annual report of Quartermaster General Taylor to the adjutant general shows the total expenditures of the organization during the last year to have been $30,216, leaving a balance of $7,548. The amount realized from the capita tax was $13,051, and from sale of supplies $22,147. The largest item of expense during the year was $12,357 for postage and incidentals. The total amount to the Grant monument fund is $11,578.

B. F. Stevenson, surgeon general of the G. A. R., in his report complains that many posts failed to make any sanitary and mortuary returns, so that statistic on these matters are very incomplete. Blanks were sent to the several departments, but the only ones to return reports embracing the period from January to June were Arizona, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and the Potomac. The report of the department of the Potomac shows: Whole number enrolled, 3,694; deaths, January 1 to June 30, 1892, 51; number who probably died from wounds received in service and resultant diseases, 13; number from disease contracted in service, 26; other causes, 12; average age of dead, 58 years, 3 months.

The report says that according to Commissioner Raum, at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1892, there were 876,782 pensioners on the rolls and that the appropriation aggregated $139,132,387. In addition to these vast expenditures the annual appropriation for the numerous government homes was $2,633,840. There are also 173 government cemeteries kept up by government appropriation. These appropriations, says the report, seem large; "but," it adds, "they should be thought of in reference to the grand moving cause calling them into being—the preservation of the government from overthrow—and who can place too high an estimate on that achievement? It is absolutely beyond monetary consideration." In this connection the report makes a statement of national resources, showing the general stock of money coined or issued to be $2,211,931,249, of which $1,601,949,325 was in circulation and the balance in the treasury, and quotes the report of Sperintendent Porter, of the census bureau to the effect that the absolute wealth of the United States may be estimated at $63,648,000,000.

Joseph W. O'Neall, of Lebanon, judge-advocate-general, in his annual report to Adjutant-General Phisterer, gives a summary of all the decisions rendered by him during the year. He says that he believes himself bound to give a strict construction of the rules and regulations relating to qualifications to membership in the G. A. R., but that he was very loth to reach a conclusion that Dr. Jones "who had been appointed and served as an acting surgeon in the United States navy, and who, by reason of sickness, became disabled while in a line of duty, and whose appointment was thereupon revoked" was not entitled to membership in the G. A. R., but that after a careful examination of the law, he became satisfied that such persons are not considered navy officers and have no rank, precedence or grade. They are simply citizens employed under special contract and are not enlisted. The first case decided was on a communication from W. E. Peters, a member of August Belknap post No. 37, department of Texas, asking that Wm. C. Webber, of Thomas post, No. 13, department of Ohio, be court-martialed for a published communication, charging that W. E. Peters had by personation of a dead brother gained admission into the G. A. R., and that he had, as administrator of his brother's estate, misappropriated the property of the brother's children. The communication ended: "This is the kind of veterans you find in the G. A. R." August Belknap post pronounced the charges a wilful and malicious lie, and sent specifications asking Webber's court-martial. The judge-advocate rules that the G. A. R. rules are for the discipline of members guilty of offenses while within the post-room or directly connected with the G. A. R. He says that Comrade Peters has a remedy by the bringing of a civil suit for damages and recommends that the commander-in-chief refuse to interfere until Peters exhausts his legal remedies.

The latter part of the communication referring to G. A. R. men generally, it is held, however, tends to bring the Grand Army into contempt, and it is recommended that Webber be tried on this part of the specifications.

In the case of Bowman, who ran off from the department of the Indian Territory, and whose place was filled by appointment of the department commander, the juge-advocate rules that a department commander cannot declare an office vacant, and that the only means of deposing an unworthy officer is by charges and court-martial.

The judge-advocate holds that a midshipman is a line officer of the eleventh grade, and if he served as such in the late war is entitled to G. A. R. membership.

Maj. Howe post, No. 47, department of Massachusetts, voted to attend the national encampment at Detroit in 1891, and 74 members did not attend. When they returned they found that 28 comrades had met in their absence. The judge advocate held this meeting void, rules that by vote of the post it was at Detroit, and this action suspended regular meetings.

In a Georgia case it is ruled that representatives to a department encampment serve during the year commencing on the first day of January following their election in December.

Phil Sheridan post, No. 4, department of Idaho, asked approval of a by-law providing for associate membership. The judge advocate ruled that this is but another there can be no honorary membership in the G. A. R.

VARIOUS REUNIONS.

Members of the Different Organizations Meet and Take Action.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The Twenty-third Army Corps held its reunion in Meade tent, and after speeches by General Stiles, Henderson, Schofield, Foster, and Colonel Brownlow, which brought up old recollections to the veterans present, a permanent organization was effected.

The Fourth corps had a jolly time in Grant tent, where several hundred persons assembled. General Howard, General Thomas and General Rosecrans each belonged to this corps. Senator Manderson was escorted to the reunion by Manderson post of the Seventy-ninth Ohio regiment. The sight of two old tattered flags of the corps borne by the post aroused enthusiasm. Colonel Marion T. Anderson called the meeting to order. General O. O. Howard made a speech and speeches were also made by General David Stanley, Senator Manderson and others.

On board the Kearsarge it was marine corps day, and the old salts aboard joked the landlubbers. The crew, consisting of sailors, gunners and others who served in the Kearsarge in war times, went through naval maneuvers regularly. Captain Herbert Winslow, son of the rear admiral who commanded the Kearsarge, delivered an address. Vice-President Morton and Secretary Tracey visited the ship and were received with a salute from the guns on the aft deck. Mr. Morton spoke briefly, and Secretary Tracy made an address in which he spoke of the need of a strong navy by the United States.

Brigadier General Nathan Kimball presided over the meeting of Shields' division, and General S. S. Carroll read a history of the division. A number of men related reminiscences with great effect. The most pleasant feature of the reunion was fraternal speeches from General John E. Roller and Colonel J. C. Marquis, of Stonewall Jackson's forces, who extended an invitation (which was accepted) on behalf of the people of Harrisonburg, Va., to visit the Shenandoah battle-fields and be their guests.

A large meeting of the survivors of the Twelfth Army Corps was held at the Sherman tent on the White lot. General Charles Candy delivered a touching address, congratulating the comrades on the privilege they had of meeting again. While he was speaking Major General Henry W. Slocum, the corps' commander, arrived, and he was greeted with enthusiastic applause and cheers. He spoke feelingly and briefly to his old soldiers, and at the conclusion of his remarks he was taken warmly by the hand by all of them. Rev. Father Walter Elliott, who was a member of the Fifth Ohio, offered a prayer. A large number of the members of the corps were called upon for addresses, and responses were made by Col. R. L. Kilpatrick, of the Fifth Ohio; Col. J. F. Mitchell, Sixth Ohio; Rev. Father Elliott, Col. J. P. Nicholson, Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania; Capt. Hugh Coleman, Fifth Ohio; Col. E. Haynes, Twenty-ninth Ohio; Capt. Asbury Oerlund, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Pennsylvania; J. A. Lumbard, One Hundred and Forty-seventh Pennsylvania, and Milton S. Lyttle, One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Pennsylvania, historian of the corps. The speeches were pathetic and humorous by turns, sadness and laughter being strangely intermingled.

In Grant tent steps were taken having in view the birth of a new G. A. R. subordinate organization, under the title of "The Minute Men of '61," to be composed of all who entered the service under President Lincoln's call of April 15, 1861.

The Association of ex-Prisoners of War held a meeting in one of the court rooms of the City hall, and after transacting some routine business proceeded to the election of officers. Marion T. Henderson, of this city, was elected president; C. J. Davis, of Massachusetts, vice president; John S. Ferguson, of Missouri, chaplain; C. R. McNarry, of Kansas, historian. The following is the executive committee: E. H. Ribble, Pennsylvania; E. W. Grant, Minnesota; R. T. Wilson, Ohio; W. H. Powell, Illinois; W H. Chamberlain, Massachusetts. The association is interested in having congress act upon a bill granting a pension of $2 a day to all ex-prisoners who were imprisoned over a certain number of days, and after talking the subject over, a committee was appointed to consider the question further

Major General Nelson A. Miles presided over the meeting of the Second army corps. Many members of the Irish brigade were present and no reunion has listened to more good stories than that of the Second army corps did yesterday.

The Eighteenth corps met in reunion in Sherman tent and listened to good stories.

In Thomas tent Captain Graham presented a corps flag to the Third brigade of the Fifth army corps, and General Butterfield accepted it as brigade commander.

The survivors of the regular brigade Fourteenth corps, Army of the Cumberland, composed of the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth United States infantry and battery H, Fifth United States artillery, re-elected their officers by acclamation.

The Daughters of Veterans opened their convention by singing "America." The president, Miss Mollie A. Robertson, of Iowa, was in the chair. A number of committees were appointed, including one to consider a proposition to make a blue frock with gilt buttons and gold lace the uniform of the organization and its wearing obligatory on formal occasions.

The Woman's Relief union transacted a little preliminary business.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Sons of Veterans met and took steps looking to the extension of the work of the order.

UNION VETERANS.

Important Meeting Held During the Encampment.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The Union Veterans' union, which has 30,000 members, preceded their encampment meeting with a fine parade up Pennsylvania avenue. General S. S. Yoder, commander-in-chief of the union, and a large staff headed by Adjutant General Street, rode at the head of the procession, and General Yoder, dismounting, reviewed the parade from the grand stand near the treasury department.

General Green Clay Smith had command of those in line. The National Rifles, of Washington, had the right of the line. The members of the Union Veterans' union were escorted by the Sons of Veterans' union, led by Ellsworth Post Sons of Veterans. There were about 1,200 members of the Union Veterans' union in line, comprising posts form Ohio, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, and Michigan. Their dress was neat, and they presented an excellent appearance. Several fine bands marched with the soldiers.

After the parade members of the Union Veterans' union met in annual encampment at Harris' theater, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion, General S. S. Yoder, commander-in-chief, delivered his annual address to this, the seventh annual encampment of the Union Veterans' union. Out of his private funds he had advanced sufficient money to procure books, and enable the affairs of the order to be brought into shape and its interests advanced. During the year there was $2,563 received from all sources and $2,470 spent. The order increased 25 per cent. during the year. He advised a change by which the office of commander-in-chief will be a one-term office.

General Green Clay Smith offered resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, reciting that the union had heard with profound sorrow of the serious illness of Mrs. Harrison and expressed the sincere sympathy of the battlefield soldiers with Comrade Harrison and their sincere prayer that health and strength be granted her and that she be restored in health to her family and to her place at the head of the nation.

A committee, of which ex-President Hayes is a member, was appointed to take measures for the establishment of an industrial home for Sons of Veterans.

GENERAL WEISSERT.

Honored by the Grand Army—Indianapolis Selected for the Next Meeting Place.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The selection of Indianapolis as the next meeting place of the Grand Army gives general satisfaction.

Gen. A. D. Weissert, of Wisconsin, was elected commander-in-chief.

THE W. R. C.

The Women Have a Fall Out of Gigantic Proportions.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The Woman's Relief Corps met the usual department row at its convention here this week. This time the department of the Potomac contains the warring elements. Mrs. John A. Logan and Miss Clara Barton are members of the organization which failed to receive the recognition of National President Sanders. But they worked with the citizens' executive committee, and through them the national convention was invited to meet in New York avenue church, where Lincoln's funeral services were held.

Mrs. Sanders, however, since coming to Washington, arranged to hold the convention in the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Logan, however, like Lord Marmion of old, "bearded the lion in his den," and securing admission to the conference, boldly told the members the committee's invitation should be accepted, that it was the church of Lincoln, and that the convention should be there.

This challenge met equally bold response, and for nearly ten hours, with intermissions for lunch and dinner, the battle of the department of the Potomac was waged.

Finally at 10 o'clock the convention voted to accept the invitation to meet in New York avenue church, thus practically repudiating the president's action.

The convention met this morning in New York avenue church. The report of President Sanders showed that during the year $34,815 had been turned over to posts. Cash for relief, $61,413. Relief other than money, $38,941. Balance in the relief funds of corps, $77,517. General fund, $122,535.81. The assets showed a decrease since the date of the last report of nearly 50 per cent.

CAPTAIN ANDREWS SIGHTED

A German Captain Gives Him Bread and Wine.

The Intrepid Navigator Expects to Reach Palos in a Fourteen Feet Boat.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Capt. Scheepena, of the German ship Adolph, from Havre to Philadelphia, reports that on August 16, 10 a. m., latitude 41.08 north, longitude 53.03 west, he sighted a small boat away to the leeward. There was a heavy sea running, and he thought it contained castaways, so he bore down with the humane intention of picking them up. On nearing the craft it was seen that it was a decked vessel like a miniature yacht, and contained only one man, who was sitting in a sort of cock-pit steering with a tiller.

"I 'hove to,' and he came alongside. He said he was Capt. Wm. A. Andrews, of Atlantic City, N. J., 14 days at sea, bound to Palos, Spain. He had broken his lantern and was short of water. I supplied him with water, bread and a dozen of claret, also gave him a new lantern. He was in good spirits, the boat having answered all his expectations, having weathered a terrible storm two days before. He expected to make Palos in about fifty days."

The Sapolio, for such is the name of Capt. Andrews' little craft, left Atlantic City July 20. She is the smallest craft that ever crossed the Atlantic, being 14 feet 6 inches in length, 5 feet 5 inches wide and 3 feet deep.

This is Capt. Andrews' fourth voyage, he having first crossed the Atlantic in 1878 in his 19-foot boat Nautilus, reaching the Lizard in 48 days. His two other attempts were failures. The Dark Secret, a 16-foot boat, was picked up waterlogged and unmanageable after 65 days at sea, and the Mermaid, which started with Captain J. W. Lawlor's Sea Serpent for a race from Boston to Queenstown, also became waterlogged after 52 days at sea and was picked up by a passing steamer. Capt. Lawlor arrived at Queenstown in 45 days.

At Lisbon.

Lisbon, Sept. 22.—Captain Andrews, who sailed from Atlantic City, N. J., in a small boat, called a dory, for Huelva, Spain, arrived her last evening. He will proceed forthwith to Huelva to take part in the October fetes in honor of the discovery of America by Columbus.

It is the intention of local Catholics to celebrate the day regardless of other arrangements unless the citizens here unite in exercises of a public character, when Catholics will also participate.

THE FRENCH REPUBLIC

Celebrates Its One Hundredth Anniversary.

The City of Paris Made Gay With Bunting.

The Flag of the Republic Seen in Every Locality—Minister Loubet Delivers the Address.

Paris, Sept. 22.—The city has not witnessed within many years a more enthusiastic spectacle than the celebration to-day in honor of the hundredth anniversary of the proclamation of the first French republic. The streets have been thronged with people from an early hour, all showing in their appearance their evident joy and the decorations they wore, the spirit of pride and patriotism that seemed universal. Royalists were absent but not conspicuously, as they have dwindled down to such a small coterie that their absence was almost unnoticed. Both the national and municipal governments joined in making the celebration a success and the extreme socialist went hand in hand with the moderate republican in doing honor to the day which, while it saw the proclamation of the republic also saw the early beginning of the reign of terror.

Indeed, the municipality of Paris, largely controlled by extremists, went into the celebration with an earnestness that fully justified the liberality of the national government in granting to the city of Paris 60,000 francs of the 200,000 francs appropriated for the celebration. The flag of the republic was everywhere displayed and the statues and monuments of the great men of the revolution were decorated and adorned.

Every public building in the city was also decorated. Two grand historical processions on the right and left bank of the Seine were the great spectacular features, and patriotic songs and representations of patriotic scenes in the early struggle of republican France against allied Europe kept the multitude in a fervor of enthusiasm. The central and leading ceremony was at the pantheon, where President Carnot, the minister of state and the leading military commanders, as well as representatives of the senate and chamber of deputies were present.

The great figure of France, distributing wreaths to her sons, was wreathed with the tri-colors, and the decorations were especially impressive where liberty is represpented protecting her illustrious sons.

In honor of the president the figure of the great Carnot of the republic was especially conspicuous for both the profusion and the artistic character of the decorations. The figure of Napoleon Bonaparte was adorned as well as the rest where it stands among the distinguished soldiers of the republic and empire reminding the spectators of the assertion of Prince Victor Bonaparte in yesterday's manifesto that in celebrating the day they were celebrating the services of Napoleon. Premier Loubet delivered the principal address.

In eulogizing the men who had founded the republic it was noticed that he carefully avoided expressing approval of the scenes of horror and bloodshed that attended their work. Speaking of the republic as it existed now, he said that it gave France the strength of triumph of her enemies, should the necessity arise to combat them, but that the republic would continue, as heretofore, to strive earnestly for peace.

M. Floquet, president of the chamber of deputies, declared that the republic was bound to promote social improvement, thereby preparing her citizens for the reign of fraternity and the final victory of right over wrong.

The speakers were cordially applauded and the choirs joined in singing a cantata, especially prepared for the occasion.

Besides the celebration at the pantheon there were special balls and celebrations by those in the historical processions.

The first of these special celebrations was in the Pîace de la Colcorde, where the guillotine stood on which were executed Louis the Sixteenth, Marie Antionette, the king's sister, Madame Elizabeth and others, including Robespierre. The obelisk of Luxon and the colossal figures surrounding it were in a mass of flags and flowers.

The chanting here was of a specially patriotic character and was occasionally interrupted by cries from the crowd, indicating grim satisfaction over some of the scenes that the place had witnessed.

Another stop was at the Place de la Republique and another at the Place de la Bastille, where the bastille formerly stood. Here chants were sung alluding to the great event which is annually commemorated in France and the crowd interrupted the program by bursting out spontaneously with the Marseillaise.

At the boulevard des Capucinos and the boulevard des Italiens there was a halt for patriotic demonstrations.

Although excellent order was generally preserved, some of the scenes were calculated to make royalist blood run cold and especially the unconcealed rejoicing over the fate of King Louis and his family. The anarchists who meditated trouble were in too insignificant a minority to mar the harmony of the occasion.

CHANCE TO ACT.

If the Present Administration Wants Jingoism,

Now is the Time to Work It Up.

The Story of Russia's Illegal Action

In Seizing Sealing Schooners at Sea.

High-Handed Deeds on the Ocean—The United States Will Hardly Let It Pass Unnoticed.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 22.—The schooner Russian Prize, thirty days out from Petropaulofsky, dropped anchor in England bay yesterday morning, in command of Captain Copp, formerly of the Vancouver Belle, and having on board thirty-seven men, twenty-two of the Vancouver Belle, nine of the W. P. Sayward, three of the E. B. Marvin and three of the Annie C. Moore.

These latter report that three more of the men are ashore on Copper island. The Russian Prize was formerly known as Rosie Ossen, of Victoria. She was seized for sealing, condemned as worthless, and afterwards given to Captain Copp by the commander of the Zabiaka.

The Vancouver Belle was seized August 12. The men were kept seven days on the man-of-war and the remainder of the time at Petropaulofsky. When seized they wer given two minutes to quit the vessels. The men of the other vessels were seized in boats. Copp says he was treated courteously by the Russian officers, who expressed to him regret that they had to perform the disagreeable duty of seizing his own vessel. His orders from his admiral were to use his own discretion and seize any vessel inside of a line of latitude from the southernmost Aleutian islands to the Kamchatka coast. This would be 200 miles south of Copper island.

He might have seized twenty vessels instead of five.

The Vancouver Belle was within 25 miles of Copper island when seized. At Petropaulofsky fifteen kopecks per man per day were allowed for rations. This sum had a purchasing power of about seven cents, and it was a case of fish or starve.

The captain had to go each day to the governor to draw money and that official used them most courteously.

The complete list of vessels seized up to the time of sailing of the Russian Prize is as follows:

Schooner Rosie Olson, of Victoria.
Schooner Ariel, of Victoria.
Schooner Will McGowan, of Victoria.
Schooner Enterprise, of Victoria.
Schooner Carlotta G. Cox, of Victoria.
Schooner Vancouver Belle, of Vancouver.
Schooner C. H. White, San Francisco.
Schooner Kate and Anne, of San Francisco.

Capt. Copp heard or saw nothing of any British man-of-war, although recent telegrams have appeared that a squadron had been ordered to the Russian coast some time ago.

Shields, one of the owners of the schooner E. B. Marvin, was among the passengers brought down on the Russian Prize and he says his vessel was seized in May by the Rusians, and that he has been a prisoner, so to speak, ever since that time.

The sealing schooners Mary Ellen and C. H. Tupper arrived this morning. The last named took 1,815 seals, 522 on the Russian side. In answer to the demands of the captain of the Russian schooner Zabiaka, Capt. Baker, of the C. H. Tupper, went aboard that vessel with his ship's papers. The arrogance of Capt. Delebron was almost unbearable. After threatening to seize both vessels and skins, finally concluded not to do so, saying, however, that if he caught them again he would seize them.

Capt. Baker says he is sure that Delebron was bent on making a seizure of any vessels he could find excuse for seizing. The schooner May Ellen corroborated Tupper's story and gave the following account of the catches made by vessels spoken by her:

Maud S., 380; Umbria, 420; Vancouver Belle, 1,300; C. G. White, 170; Sadie Turpel, 605; Brenda, 130; A. Earle, 500; Sea Lion, 620.

The May Ellen brought home 304 skins.

The schooner Victoria, Capt. Robbins, returned home Tuesday night with 600 skins for the season's work.

Sealers generally are better pleased with the situation and it is thought the schooners will be all right yet and that those seized will be returned to their owners.

WARRANT FOR PECK.

He Fails to Put in an Appearance.

Diligent Search for the Commissioner.

If He Is As Honest As He Claims Why Does He Make Himself So Scarce?

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22.—When the court of sessions of Albany county met this morning there was an expectant throng to see Labor Commissioner Peck arraigned. He did not appear, however, not having arrived in the city. At 11 o'clock District Attorney Eaton practically admitted that the sealed and yet unopened indictment was against Mr. Peck, by asking the court to issue bench warrant for Mr. Peck, whom he believed to be in town. The court granted the request but up to 11 o'clock Mr. Peck had not been seen in the city although his counsel, Mr. Meegan, said he expected him.

District Attorney Eaton said this morning: "The statement that I have tried to get Mr. Peck in jail is untrue. I have given him warning of every move and in fact have kept him out of jail by warning him to obtain bail."

It disappears—the worst forms of catarrh, with the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties effect a perfect and permanent cure, no matter how bad the case, or of how long standing. It's a remedy that succeeds where everything else has failed. Thousands of such cases can be pointed out. That's the reason its proprietors back their faith in it with money. They offer $500 reward for a case of catarrh which they cannot cure. It's a medicine that allows them to take such a risk. Doesn't common sense lead you to take such a medicine?

"An advertising fake," you say.

Funny, isn't it, how some people prefer sickness to health when the remedy is positive and the guarantee absolute.

Wise men don't put money back of "fakes." And "faking" doesn't pay.

They believe in themselves. Isn't it worth a trial? Isn't any trial preferable to catarrh?

SHOOT AWAY

Is the Verdict of a Majority of the Police Board,

After the Consideration of the Gavin Case.

Patrolman Ohlms Exonerated, Three to Two—Then the Gamblers Get a Turning Over — Doville Delivers a Few Speeches.

The police board had a lively meeting last evening, there being much said and very little done.

W. H. Garritson submitted plans of a garbage furnace which he wants to build for the city.

He offered to put the furnace in operating order for $1,500, and would give 15 or 20 days' trial before a payment need be made.

A committee from the council was present and examined the plans. The committee voted to report favorably on the plans.

Mr. Garritson said he would pay the expenses of a committee of two or three to San Antonio, Tex., to examine a furnace he has in operation at that point.

Several owners of buildings ordered torn down by the board were present and protested against such action, claiming they had since put the property in a sanitary condition.

Charles Harley said he wanted to make a barn of his building, and the order was modified to this effect. The others were ordered to be enforced and the owners arrested unless complied with.

Health Officer Fisher submitted plans of a pest house which were approved and referred to the council.

Dr. Fisher directed the board's attention to the filthy condition of numerous holes on Broadway, Wade and Williams streets. He stated that these places were rapidly being filled with dead animals and tin cans; that water stood in them, and that they were perfect hot-beds of contagion. Property owners are constantly objecting to them and are willing to fill up the lots if the city will do its share.

The matter was referred to the city council with a request that action be taken at once.

Ex-Patrol Driver Michael Higgins filed a written request that he be paid salary since June 1, the date of his discharge, claiming it due by reason of his not being discharged by a two-thirds vote. No action was taken.

Frank Bartell filed an affidavit charging Officer Hewitt with being drunk while on duty.

Chief Raitz filed a similar charge against Hewitt and Officer Dwyer. It was voted to hold a special meeting Friday evening, when the charges will be considered.

The building committee reported the following contracts awarded for the construction of the new patrol barn: W. A. White, painting, $848; Justus N. Groenwald, plumbing, $690; iron steps, $72.50. The carpenter and brick work has been referred to the city solicitor.

The trial of Officer Ohlms, charged with shooting Edward Gavin, was next taken up. Ohlms pleaded that he was justified in shooting the boy. Attorney L. G. Richardson represented Gavin.

Evidence was introduced on both sides of the case.

The officer showed by his witnesses that there was a bad gang of boys in that neighborhood who made life miserable for the policemen on the beat. He showed that Gavin was one of them, and had been arrested twice, once for being with boys who pulled a wagon out in the street, again for being with some boys who stole a bottle of whisky several years ago. Ohlms admitted the shooting and repeated the story which appeared in the Bee at the occurrence of the event. He said he knew of no offense committed by any of the boys; that he suspected they had committed a crime. They escaped once, and he came upon four boys who answered the description, but would not state positively that they were the ones he chased early in the evening. He called on them to halt, they did not stop. He shot in the air and they ran all the faster, then he shot to hit. It was his first night on the beat. He knew of no warrant out for Robison.

Gavin made his statement. He said they ran because they were afraid of the policeman; that they always ran when a policeman was around because they did not want to be arrested for nothing.

Mr. Richardson cross-examined the officer and drew a reiteration of his statement. He then read the state law governing an officer's right to use his weapon, showing that a policeman has no right to shoot at a person escaping arrest unless the officer has positive knowledge that such person is guilty of a felony. He then stated that by the officer's own testimony he shot at the boys, not knowing who they were, or whether they committed a nuisance or not, much less a felony. He cited a case in point where a Cincinnati policeman had shot an escaping prisoner who had only committed a misdemeanor, and was indicted on the charge of manslaughter, convicted and sent to state's prison.

Mayor Emmick, in the officer's defense, stated that a bad gang infested this vicinity, and always endeavored to run every policeman out. If the boys had stopped when halted there would have been no trouble.

Mr. Richardson replied that the officer had a right to halt any citizen, but no right to shoot him down if he refused to halt. The gang or the company the boy was in, or his bad reputation, be it as it may, had nothing to do with the case.

"Many's the time I have seen Your Honor in bad company," continued Mr. Richardson, warming up to the subject, "and does that give any officer the right to shoot you down, or even arrest you? If the police of Toledo go to shooting every man with a bad character, a mighty big job they would have, and there would be hanging for it, too."

Mr. Doville then arose and wanted to know if he could make a speech. On receiving permission he began with a remark to the effect that Mr. Richardson was perhaps well read in law, but did not think he had any business to come down and tell the police commissioners their business. The citizens of Toledo were paying for police protection and did not believe in allowing a gang of toughs to run the town.

"It would be establishing a pretty precedent if we listened to this lawyer and discharge this officer," said Doville. "Discharge him just because he did his duty. Why, if this action go abroad to-morrow, we could not keep a policeman on a beat in the city of Toledo. The tough and bums would run the town. There is a tough gang in that ward. They have been trying to run out the policemen. Here is one man who they could not run out, and I am glad we have one man on the force who has sand enough to shoot, and I for one am in favor of standing by the officer."

Mr. Richardson was on his feet in an instant and said: "Mr. Doville, you must understand that the state laws govern this board as much as the citizens of the state, and you follow out the line you have laid out and you will be put where you can't get away soon."

"I don't care for the laws of Ohio, or all of the courts or lawyers in the state. I tell you this board must use a little judgment of its own, and back their officers in the discharge of their duty. This man did right in shooting and if there was more of it done they would have less trouble."

He concluded with a motion to exonorate the officer which received no second.

Mr. Potter moved that the officer be severely reprimanded. He did not believe in this indiscriminate shooting. An officer could not be too careful when and at whom he is shooting.

Mr. Stager wanted to know if he could make a speech, and then concluded he did not want to.

Mr. Nearing then seconded Doville's motion, and Mayor Emmick, Doville and himself voted for it.

Doville then said he wanted to make another speech. He got permission and then proceeded to roast the mayor and chief of police to a turn, on Sunday closing, gambling hells, houses of prostitution and other resorts of vice in the city. He had done a little slumming on the quiet and had stumbled into a gambling room. He repeated the old story about the young man coming up, who would be led astray, etc., and closed by saying Toledo was known all over the world for its gambling hells and vice.

"It is a disgrace to our city and to our mayor. Why are they not closed up? What is our chief of police doing? Why is it that the sheriff has to raid these places? What is our police department for? Something should be done, and that at once."

"The sheriff did not pull the gambling house, he attached the property, that was all," quoth Mayor Emmick, "beside, Captain Doville, will you please keep quiet until morning?"

The mayor continued:

"I may as well state right here that the gambling houses are being closed at this very moment." He hesitated and gazed about the room to note the effect of the startling announcement.

"This would have been done last week if the papers had kept their mouths shut instead of giving the thing away."

Doville then poured out, "Why don't you keep them fellows out when you have any business to do?"

Mayor Emmick looked disgusted and gave way to Chief Raitz.

The chief had requested Judge Sala to draw up a proclamation to gamblers and all bad people, which with the board's permission the judge would read. And he read.

PROCLAMATION.

I, Benjamin Raitz, Chief of Police, hereby give notice that section 6932, Revised Statutes of Ohio, which declares whoever keeps a room or rooms, building, etc., for gambling, or permits the same to be so used; or whoever rents rooms or buildings to be so used, will be prosecuted according to law. Also, section 6939, Revised Statutes of Ohio, which provides that "whoever shall keep any room or building, or portion of any room or building, or occupy any place upon public or private grounds for the purpose of selling pools; or whomsoever being the owner or lessee of any such room or building, rented or used for such purpose, will be prosecuted according to law. I also declare that section 6934, Revised Statutes of Ohio, will be strictly enforced, which provides as follows:

"Whoever keeps or exhibits for gain, or to win or gain money or other property, any gambling device, faro, keno, roulette table or apparatus, or whoever engages in gambling for a livelihood, or is without any fixed residence, and in the habit or practice of gambling, shall be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

The statutes of Ohio and ordinances of the city of Toledo relative to the subject of gambling will be strictly enforced, and any person in the city of Toledo found violating any of the provisions of the law as above cited will be prosecuted by me according to law without fear or favor.

BENJ. RAITZ,
Chief of Police, City of Toledo.

The board then adjourned until Friday night.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Woman Decapitated in a Hotel.

She Looked Into the Elevator Shaft and Was Struck on the Head.

St Louis, Sept. 22.—Mrs. A. E. Shields, wife of a traveling man for the Ely-Walker dry goods company, was killed at the Richelieu hotel yesterday.

Mrs. Shields went to the elevator to go down to the dining room. There is no glass in the door leading to the elevator and Mrs. Shields, after ringing the bell, put her head through the opening to see if the elevator was coming up. At that moment it was descending and struck the back of her head, crushing it badly.

Strange to say she was not knocked down the shaft, but staggered back into the hallway. Then ensued a most horrible scene. A chambermaid and porter had witnesses the accident and ran to her. She fled from them and notwithstanding that she was practically decapitated, ran to the speaking tube and apparently tried to call to some one below. Then she ran, or rather staggered, to her room, a few feet away, and fell dead.

Mrs. Shields was only 23 years of age and a daughter of Col. Campbell, clerk of the court of appeals of Arkansas. Her home was in Little Rock.

NORTH BALTIMORE.

Second Day of the Fair a Big Success.

North Baltimore, Sept. 22.—(Special)—The second day of the great fair opened up with a rush. The crowd was much larger than was expected, all day long people were coming from all directions.

Among the many attractions on the program the Merchants' carnaval was the most attractive.

The procession was over a mile in length, composed of exhibits by the merchants and manufacturers of the town. A band of real Sioux Indians imported for this special occasion, captured the small boys, in fact, you might say the whole town.

New Central House.

One of the most attractive buildings on main street is the New Central hotel, erected by Mrs. H. L. Smith. This house just completed is furnished throughout with all the latest conveniences, bath and sample rooms, besides 30 sleeping apartments, all lighted by electric lights. The dining room is large and light. The kitchen is under the personal direction of Mrs. Smith, which is positive proof of the good things always in store for the patrons of the house. Clyde Gilsons, well known all over Ohio, is in the office and always pleased to welcome his many friends.

Notes.

The entries were all in by 10 a. m yesterday.

The floral display of the Defiance Floral company is well worth seeing.

The Townsend Dramatic company at the opera house are doing a nice business.

The heavy women of North Baltimore and vicinity are flocking around the exhibit of the Railway Fence company. The heavy weight of the crowd receives a kiss from his honor the mayor.

The schools are closed this week on account of the fair.

Dr. Townsend, of Holgate, O., has been making wonderful cures in curing men from the drink habit with his own discovery of the gold cure.

EXCURSION TO YOUNGSTOWN.

On account of the annual reunion of the Old Settlers of Ohio to be held at Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 28 to 30, THE COLUMBUS, HOCKING VALLEY & TOLEDO RY. will sell round trip excursion tickets at reduced rates. Tickets good for 30 days. Passengers going on this excursion should take train leaving Toledo at 6.35 a. m., Sept. 27.

To Avoid Contagious Diseases.

It is of the utmost importance to strengthen the body. A healthy body will much sooner withstand the ravages of contagious diseases, cholera, la grippe, etc., than a weak frame. The genuine Johann Hoff's Malt Extract is acknowledged in this respect to be the best tonic beverage and is especially recommended for invalids, where a delicate yet strengthening tonic is necessary to build up a debilitated constitution. One dozen bottles of Johann Hoff's Malt Extract are equal in nutritive and tonic qualities to one cask of ale or porter, without being intoxicating. It is beneficial alike for man, woman or child.

Prof. Prosper De Pietra Santa, of Paris, says: "As a large number of patients lack the necessary power to digest solid food, and would through the use of stimulants be merely excited and weakened, therefore I regard it of immense value to the practitioner to bring to his aid a nutritious tonic and remedy like the Johann Hoff's Malt Extract, which will act not only as a tonic, but as a nutrient as well, and which is less exciting than wine as a stimulant."

Be sure to obtain the genuine, which has the signature of "Johann Hoff" on the neck of every bottle.

Games of Ball Played in the National League—Miscellaneous Mention.

James J. Corbett has rightly sized up England's great wind bag, Charley Mitchell. He calls him a bluffer and bully, and has offered to post a forfeit of $5,000 to fight him at the conclusion of his engagement, a year hence.

After the great battle in New Orleans Corbett sent Mike Donovan a check for $250, and Mike sent it back stating that it was too small and that he felt insulted by so slim an amount. Donovan had taken a great liking to Corbett and gave him some advice as to how to fight Sullivan, and the New York World scores Corbett for not being more liberal. In answer the Chicago Herald hits the mark as follows:

"The New York World's pugilistic writer is evidently disgruntled over the defeat of Sullivan, and anxious to do injury to Corbett's prospects for public popularity. While it is true that Mike Donovan did advise Corbett to some purpose, he was not in the Californian's corner, but outside the outside ropes, from which point he occasionally made suggestions to Billy Delaney. He did not do this, however, from his great love of Corbett, but from an old standing desire to see Sullivan beaten. He did not put in any time training Corbett as he did Billy Delaney and Jim Daly or even do as much as did John Donaldson in the way of advice and pointers before and during the fight, and it is doubtful if Donaldson got to exceed $250 or $500 for that service, and certainly could not expect any more.

Corbett, if his backers presented him with the $10,000 stake winnings, would have had $35,000, including the purse, but his training for the past three months and the trip to New Orleans and return must have cut quite a hole into that sum. Delaney, Daly and Donaldson were also well paid for their services, but if everybody who gave Corbett a little advice must be presented with a check for $1,000, the champion would have found himself penniless after his great victory and Mike Donovan showed his lack of appreciation by his refusal to take the gift offered him. He did not have any special care of Corbett and would have sustained but little loss had the young Californian been beaten, but the victor brought him into prominence and gave him much notoriety that is dear to the heart of men of his class. He should have been well satisfied with the financial remembrance of the young champion, who, while not lavish possibly in the distribution of the almighty dollar, certainly tendered Donovan all that his sevices were worth.

Baltimore, Sept. 22.—No records were broken at the fall tournament of the Maryland Bicycle club, although a number of crack riders participated in the ten contests. The rainstorm detained others than the most enthusiastic from making the trip to the grounds. The track, however, was in good condition. The prizes represented a value of $2,200, of which Zimmerman took the greater part. The results are:

One-mile novice—Magers first, Weber second, French third. Time, 2:46.

Quarter-mile, for 2:34 class—Bliss of Chicago first, Murphy second, Wheeler third. Time, :36.

Applause greeted Zimmerman as he came up for the half-mile scratch. The referee put a limit of 1:10 on the race, and all but Leon Rosenfeld got off their wheels. The time limit was then called off. Zimmerman then went ahead in the back stretch in the second lap, spurted and won. Lumsden was second, Berlo third. Time, 1:17.

One mile, 2:25 class—Banker 1, Bliss 2, Rhodes 3. Time, 2:41 2-5.

One mile handicap—Weber (160 yards) 1, Hartford (175 yards) 2, Pawley (140 yards) 3. Time, 2:27.

All but Lumsden of the scratch men refused to start owing to unjust handicapping.

George Taylor was scratch man in the quarter mile handicap with 13 men in front of him. Hartford (45 yards) won by an inch, Holland (30 yards) 2, Magers 3. Time, :35 1-5.

Zimmerman won the quarter-mile scratch in :35 1-5; Lumsden 2, Rhodes 3.

Half-mile handicap—Murphy (30 yards) 1, Taylor (scratch) 2, White (55 yards) 3. Time, 1:09 45.

The mile lap went to Zimmerman, who led at the end of every lap; Lumsden took second money and Banker third. Time, 2:45 3-5.

The tournament ended with the invitation race in which Zimmerman, Taylor, Wheeler, Bliss, Banker, and Rhodes started. A time limit of 2:40 was set by the referee. Bliss had the best of the start and set the pace around tht turn. At the half Wheeler was peacemaker and at the three-quarters it was Taylor and Zimmerman. Going into the back stretch on the last quarter, Zimmerman made one of his wonderful spurts and won by ten yards, Taylor 2, Rhodes 3, and Berlo 4. Time, 2:55 2-5.

The referee declared it no race. After a great deal of delay the men concluded to run again. Bliss made the pace throughout, but on the last lap Zimmerman took the lead and won; Berlo 2, Taylor 3. Time, 2:33 1-5.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

Our City Electrified by a Wonderful Occurence.

Something Which Will Marvellously Interest Our Readers,

And Also is of the Utmost Importance to Everybody.

(From the Syracuse Herald.)

Something little short of a miracle has taken place in our city, and we believe that its importance demands the publication of the facts far and wide.

It seems that a lady, Mrs. Hickok by name, who is 75 years old, was brought very low by disease, absolutely prostrated in fact, and, as all supposed, was upon her death bed, she having been given up as incurable by the doctors. Very suddenly she was restored to perfect health.

Her son, the well known Charles F. Hickok of 411 Taylor street, Syracuse, N. Y., when interviewed in regard to his mother's remarkable and sudden restoration to health, said: "It is a fact that my mother, 75 years old, was raised from her death bed and made a well lady. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy did it. She was weak and exhausted, her kidneys were very bad, her back very lame and her appetite was very poor. She got over her pains in a few days under the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and kept gaining, under the influence of this wonderful remedy, until she is now entirely cured."

Mrs. Charles F. Hickok, wife of Mr. Hickok, said: "I take great pleasure in testifying to the wonderful cure of my husband's mother by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy."

Mr. Charles Hickok, jr., son of Mr. Hickok, spoke enthusiastically in regard to what he considers a most marvellous restoration to health after all hope was gone. "Why," he said, "the doctors had all given my grandmother up to die, but she is now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy!"

All the parties are well known residents of our city, and can be seen or written to at any time. The facts have come under our personal knowledge, and certainly the cure speaks volumes in regard to the efficacy of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, in overcoming disease and restoring the weak and suffering to health and strength. It is will thus save the life of a person almost on the edge of the grave, hom much more surely and readily will it sure all the ordinary complaints which afflict humanity. Indeed, we have heard of a great many people being cured by this wonderful medicine, and the fact that it is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th street, New York, one of the most eminent and best known physicians in the United States, makes us unhesitatingly recommend its use to the sick.

Dr. Greene is probably the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

If you are weak, tired, nervous, run down and exhausted in nerve power or physical vitality, it will immediately restore you to strength and vigor. If you suffer from headache, insomnia, nervous debility, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or kidney and liver trouble, do not fail to use it, for it will certainly cure you.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the best remedy in the world to strengthen the nerves, invigorate the blood, regulate the action of all the organs and restore our strength and energies.

If our readers take our advice, they will take this wonderful remedy now—now when they most need it. You can buy it at any drug store for $1.00, and no one need fear to use it, for it is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless.

REPUBLICAN FORCES

Meet to Formulate Plans for the Campaign —Tucker in the Saddle.

About a score of Candidate Ashley's cohorts, with a score of reputable republicans, met in the club rooms last evening at the behest of Ashley to form plans for the squelching of the rapidly-increasing disaffection in the ranks over his nomination, and to devise ways and means to whip the malcontents into line. W. H. Tucker, Ashley's East Side wire-puller, acted as chairman, and frowned upon the Hamilton and Griffin men when they meekly arose to offer a suggestion.

Assistant Prosecutor Sumner said the object of the meeting was to form plans for the coming election. The members present, however, didn't seem to be very enthusiastic on the subject, and after a desultory discussion by those who were allowed to speak, the matter was dropped.

The question of renting a part of the club rooms to the republican county executive committee then came up, and after haggling over the price for some time a motion was carried to the effect that the committee could have a part of the plant during the campaign for an even $100.

R. S. Holbrook and Chas. E. Sumner were appointed a committee to confer with other members of the club as to the feasibility of forming a club to escort visiting campaign speakers to and from the hotels and depots. Several members said they would join such a club if it didn't cost anything, and after Secretary Adams had taken down their names the meeting adjourned to meet next Tuesday.

The Grand Jury Will Have a Chance.

John W. Allen, the alleged forger, waived an examination in police court this morning and was bound over to the court of common pleas in the sum of $800. He will probably not be able to furnish the requisite bail.

An October Race Meeting.

The Toledo Exposition Co. have made arrangements to hold a race meeting October 11, 12 and 13. Some good horses are being received, and if the weather permits there is no doubt but what the meeting will be a great success. A great deal of interest is being manifested by local and outside horsemen.

The Asylum Trustees.

The monthly meeting of the asylum trustees is being held at the institution today, Messrs. Campbell, Parks Foster and Geyser being present. Dr. C. A. Faber, who has been first assistant physician for the past two years, resigned, but the vacancy was not filled. Dr. Faber has made many friends in the position, and he will have their good wishes for future success.

Bruce Brownlee's Case In Circuit Court.

The case of Bruce Brownlee against Berdan & Co., wholesale grocers on St. Clair street, was submitted on error in circuit court to-day. The case was originally instituted in common pleas court on a petition filed by Brownlee to recover $5,000 damages for personal injury. It seems he fell over a skid in front of the St. Clair entrance to the store. The jury gave a verdict of $3,000.

That Insurance Attachment.

A Bee met Manager F. K. Hogue, of the Sandusky Fire Insurance company, this morning, and he stated that the requisite bond had been filed for the releasing of its property from the attachment noted in last evening's issue. Mr. Hogue further states that the affidavits on which the attachments were heard are false, and will be proven so at the proper time. Steps are to be taken to secure the fullest reparation from the parties at whose instigation the proceedings were begun.

Judge Sala Unfavorably Criticised.

There is considerable gossip on the streets to-day relative to the action of Judge Sala before the police board last evening. Lawyers do not regard that it comports with the dignity of the court for the presiding judge to prepare proclamations and enter into discussions touching matters which must be passed upon from the bench. Each department of the city government has its functions to perform, and Judge Sala would have avoided much unfavorable criticism had he remembered the fact that he is a judge and not prosecutor. The merits of the question involved do not enter into the case.

A Toledo Mason Honored.

At the session of the thirty-third degree Masons, which has just closed at Providence, R. I., Mr. Leander Burdick, of this city, was elected as a member of the body, which is the summit of Masonic ambition. When it is considered that the membership is limited to a certain number, and vacancies only occur through death, the honor to Toledo and Ohio can be doubly appreciated. Mr. Burdick is in Bay City at the present time. To-day numerous telegrams of congratulations were received from various points of the country. The degree will be conferred at the next annual session, which will be held in Chicago in 1893. Mr. Burdick is a member of Rubicon lodge, and has filled many positions of honor in the different state grand bodies.

Jane at Wheeler's

Charles Frohman's brilliant comedy success, Jane, will occupy the boards of the Wheeler opera house on Monday evening, September 26. The comedy is well known to our theater patrons as one of the best plays presented here last season. The company presenting Jane is one of great merit, as the name of Frohman will suggest. Mr. Frohman has an enviable reputation for handling the most legitimate attractions, and Jane is no exception to this rule. Adapted from the French, Jane possesses all the elements of bright, sparkling wit and refined humor always found in those successes produced in the gay capitol of the sister republic, and Jane has the advantage over the original that there are no risque situations or anything in the way of double entendres. The sale of seats opens to-day.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Eleventh Street Church of Christ gave their first entertainment and social of the season last evening and an excellent program was carried out. A male quartet, consisting of Messrs. G. Podget, W. T. Huntsman, T. P. Templeton, and E. E. Gallcher, rendered some choice selections. Miss Minnie Fleisher sang a solo and little Miss Werum gave a very fine recitation. Miss Lucy Weis and Miss Bertha Wetchel followed with a harp duet. The Serenade club, consisting of W. Whitney, J. Tenny, E. Tenny, and L. M. Fluhart, rendered several pleasing selections. A flute solo was given by Mr. Fluhart, accompanied by Miss Disher as organist. The evening closed with a social time and ice cream and cake.

Light Police Court Docket.

The police court docket this morning was rather light. Mattie Patton, the colored woman arrested yesterday for drunkenness, forfeited $5 and costs. Jeff Steenburg and John Solomon, charged with disturbance, were released, and the case of Henry Obider, who was arrested on a similar charge, was marked off the docket. Obider had also been arrested on an attachment, but this case was marked off the docket too on the recommendation of the chief of police. The defendant paid the costs in both cases. The cases of Arthur Langg and A. J. Fish, charged with neglecting children, were respectively continued until September 23 and 24. Winnie Ewing was found guilty of stealing a row boat and the case was continued until Saturday in order that the conditions of his recent release from the reform school at Lancaster might be investigated.

Not Destitute, But Dirty.

Humane Officer France yesterday received a communication informing him that a family named Kilcore, who have recently emigrated from Ireland, were living in destitution in East Toledo, and that the children were sick with a disease, the doctor had no name for. Mr. France investigated the case and found that Mr. Kilcore is a stonemason, and that the family have plenty to eat, but the filth was something frightful. Mr. France told the woman that she must wash the children and clean the house or she would have the cholera in such a pest-breeding atmosphere, and she promised to clean up. Water and fresh air is all the sick child needs, his only disease being whooping cough in a light form.

Two Well Known Toledoans.

The Washington correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette to-day has the following reference to two well known Toledo ladies:

Among the ladies accompanying the ladies from Ohio is Mrs. Kate Brownlee Sherwood. She is the daughter of Judge Brownlee, of Mahoning county, a leader in the abolition movement, and she has written many poems and war songs that have awakened the enthusiasm of the boys who wore the blue. One of Mrs. Sherwood's poems, "The Man Who Wore the Shield," written for the reunion of the Twenty-third Army Corps, will be recited by Mrs. Elizabeth Mansfield Irving, an elocutionist of more than local fame, and the president of Forsyth Relief corps, of Toledo. Mrs. Sherwood now lives at Canton, but the Toledo visitors are proud to claim her as one of their own flock. Another woman from the city on the Maumee who attracts attention is Mrs. David R. Locke, whose husband was the former editor of the Toledo Blade, and known in his day to the literary world as "Petroleum V. Nasby."

Central Ohio M. E. Conference.

The Toledo Methodist preachers will be entertained during conference at the following homes:

Rev. N. S. Brackney with Dr. Wm. Smith

Rev. I. N. Smith with J. S. Eyler.

The conference will convene Wednesday morning, September 28.

"The Now Famous Contest."

This morning's Columbus Journal thus refers to a matter which has been the subject of considerable comment in Toledo in times past:

The now famous contest case over the issuing of $100,000 bonds for the purpose of redeeming certificates of indebtedness caused by the laying of natural gas mains to Toledo wound up in the supreme court yesterday afternoon, when a petition for leave to file petition in error was filed. It will be remembered that after a bitter debate between Representatives Griffin and Flickinger of Lucas county last winter a bill was passed by a close vote authorizing Toledo to take up the outstanding claims by issuing $100,000 bonds. It passed the senate and when it came time for issuing the bonds a number of citizens headed by Thomas S. Merrill secured an injunction restraining the issue of bonds. They claimed the law unconstitutional, but the common pleas and circuit courts decided otherwise and they appealed to the supreme court. The case involves that old and much mooted question of the constitutionality of certain kinds of local legislation. There are few members of the legislature but what have in their speeches or in private expressed doubt as to the constitutionality of the legislation, but they passed hundreds of just such bills.

THEY WENT FISHING

And Had a Series of Runaways En Route Home.

Geo. L. Johnson, Will Root, Dr. Skeels and Geo. Rosenbecker went fishing to Ten Mile creek yesterday. They caught no fish, but lots of fun coming home. Their team ran away three times. After the second experience Messrs. Johnson and Rosenbecker got out and walked. Turning on to Superior street the team ran away for the third time. On this trip the horses ran into a telegraph pole, completely demolishing the buggy and throwing out the two occupants, but not seriously injuring either. They hitched the horse to the post, and, after walking home, phoned the owner of the rig where he could find the darned animal.

THE WATERS OF LAKE MICHIGAN

They Come From the Rocky Mountains.

Where do the waters of Lake Michigan come from? is an old question; and it is a question as old as the artesian wells. Where do their waters come from? Col. Foster, an eminent civil engineer, for many years in charge of government interests on the lake, was fond of talking on the first subject. "Every drop of those waters," he was often heard to declare, says the Chicago Herald, "came from the Rocky mountains." His theory was that they were brought here subterraneously, but he never, to our knowledge, marked out the course of the subterraneous stream. He announced this as his conviction long before—indeed, he died before—the sinking of artesian wells in Chicago and the consequent discovery of the now undoubted fact.

William B. Ogden held the same view, and used at times to make himself very interesting in expatiating upon it. With him, as well as with Col. Foster, it was no more than a theory, but he adhered to it firmly.

Mr. Cregier, who is scientific before he is a politician, is wont to talk approvingly of the theory in a manner to convince any man. The phenomenon is the running out of this lake through the others of the easterly chain and over Niagara Falls of an incalculable quantity of water, and this continually every minute in the hour, every hour in the day, every day in the year and every year in progressive time! The lake has no visible inlets—where, then, does it get its replenishment? From the Rocky mountains. Through rents and crevices, down into caverns at the roots of these mountains, pour ever the waters from melting snows. Four thousand feet they sink to strike a gravity incline that levels with their floor under Chicago. Under this city and elsewhere on the west side of Lake Michigan—this is the proved theory, theory as good as proved—the snow-covered Rocky mountains are constantly sending their waters to supply flowage and evaporation that is ever going forward in the watery expanse right here in sight of a million and a half (almost) of people.

An orange fad is among the possibilities of the day. Free consumption of the fruit is said to be good for the complexion, and many ladies are testing the claim.

LATE MARKETS.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 468,092 bus., and at five other western points 706,690 bus.; total 1,174,782 bus. On the corresponding Thursday in 1891 the receipts at same points were 1,182,105 bus., including 601,518 of northwestern wheat, leaving as the movement from the five other western points 580,587 bus., compared with 706,690 bus. to-day. Export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were wheat 301,822 bus., and flour to an aggregate of 540,000 bus.

English markets are unchanged for wheat and corn.

Corn opened slow and lower, on good weather reports, but as wheat advanced this cereal became stronger and recovered the loss and closed at an advance.

There is nothing in foreign markets, at close, of any note.

In New York, October wheat closed at 79 7-8c, a gain of 7-8c. December, 83c, a gain of 3-4c. September corn at 53 3-8c, a gain of 1-8c. October at 53 3-8c, a loss of 1-4c. October oats at 37 5-8c, a gain of 1-4c.

In Chicago October wheat closed at 74 1-2c, a gain of 1 1-4c; December at 77 1-8c, a gain of 1 1-8c. September corn at 45 3-4c, loss of 1-8c; October at 46 34c, a gain of 1 2c. October oats at 33 1-4c, a loss of 1-8c.

In Toledo we have had a very quick market in the speculative line of the deal. Opening trades indicated a shade lower market and it was after noon before prices begn to advance. The trading at the higher prices was limited, but the market was firm, and closed at the best prices of the day. September shows a gain of 1c, December, 1 1-8c, and May 7-8c.

On the call September sold at 74 1-2c; December at 77 3-4c, and May at 82 3-4c. After the call September trading was very light. One sale at 74 5-8c, and at close the price was 75 1-2c; October a sale at 75c; December sold at 77 5-8c and closed at 78 5-8c; May at 82 7-8c and at close the price was 83 3-4c.

Cash wheat was in only moderate request for No. 2 soft; sale at 74 1-2c and at close 75 1-2c was the price, a gain of 1c; No. 3 soft was more freely dealt in; sales at 67 1-2 to 68 1-4c; in Lake Shore at 69 to 69 1-2c; December sold at 71 1-2 to 72 1-4c; No. 4 soft at 60 1-2 to 61c; rejected No. 1 at 66c.

Close in New York.

New York, Sept. 22.—Money loaned easy at 3@4 per cent. Exchange quiet; posted rates $4.86@4.87 1-2; actual rates $4.85@4.85 1-4 for 60 days and $4.86 1-2@4.86 3-4 for demand. Governments steady; currency, 6s, $1.07 bid; 4s, coupon, $1.14 1-2 bid; extended 2s, registered, $1.00 bid. Stocks were fairly active this morning. The sales to noon amounted to 166,788 shares. The principal trading was in Reading, north Pacific preferred, Louisville & Nashville, Burlington, Whisky trust and Erie and Western preferred. During the opening hour the market was irregular and changes were confined to the smallest fractions in most cases, but in the second hour a squeeze was developed in Reading, which caused a sharp covering. Some large amounts of the stock changed hands and its price advanced 1 3-8 per cent. to 56 3-8. The strength of Reading caused the remainder of the list to harden and prices as a rule at noon were slightly above those of yesterday. At this writing the market is steady.

Flour in more demand for better qualities; superfine $2.10@2.15; fine, $200; city mill extra, $4.25@4.35 for West Indies.

Wheat opened 1-4c lower, but subsequently recovered the decline and advanced 1-8c by noon. No. 2 red winter 78 3-4c cash; 79 1-8c October; 80 3-4c November; 82 3-4c December; 83 5-8c January.

Corn opened weak and continued so throughout, declining 1-2c by noon. No. 2 mixed 53 3-4c cash; 53c September; 53 3-8c October; 54c November.

Oats steady; No. 2 mixed 36 3-4c cash; 36 5-8c September; 37 3-8c October; 38 3-8c November.

Rye nominal.

Barley neglected.

Molasses dull; New Orleans, 30@35c for good to fancy. Sugar, refined firm; cutloaf and crushed, 5 3-16@5 1-2c; granulated, 5@5 3-16c; powdered, 5 1-8@5 3-16c; mould A, 5 1-8@5 3-16c. Get ready for the cold wave which Prof. Foster says will be due here in a few days.

The republican party is in favor of a free ballot when it can do the counting. Otherwise, a bayonet.

Since Hill made his great Brooklyn speech republicans wonder where New York is at. Evidently it is no longer included in republican hope.

Mr. Ashley's lieutenants will not ask electors to vote as they shot, but as he buys. That was the policy in 1890, and the Governor says he shall conduct his campaign on the same plan in 1892.

Mr. Henry A. Myer, of Brooklyn, the republican candidate for mayor a year ago, has renounced his republicanism and declared for Cleveland. The bolt from Harrison in the east is becoming a stampede.

Dr. Elmer Lee, who is having remarkable success in treating cholera patients in Russia, is an American, and a Buckeye, of course. He was born in Piqua and his father is a prominent manufacturer in that enterprising city.

Where Ashley was weak two years ago he is weaker now. Where he held his own in 1890 he will lose in 1892. The nominal republican majority of 1,700 in the district will be changed to a large democratic majority in 1892.

The Cleveland Leader chuckles over the Ohio gerrymander by which the congressional delegation of fourteen democrats to seven republicans is expected to change to fifteen republicans to six democrats. There are two districts up this way that will upset republican calculations. The Huron district will elect a democrat, M. D. Harter, and the Lucas district will defeat Ashley.

Judge Gresham is far from being an orthodox republican on the tariff question. In deciding a property case in his court this week he incidentally remarked that "the government possesses the absolute power to take any part of any man's property for its own use, but ought not to possess the power to take any more than enough to defray the expenses of the government." That sentiment borders very closely upon the democratic declaration for tariff for revenue only.

It is surprising that any democrat should be found in Toledo ready to endorse the nomination of Judge Pugsley. There is a splendid fighting chance in this judicial district, and to say there are no democrats strong enough to make a successful race is a sad commentary on ability in the democratic party. Very likely several leading democratic attorneys prefer the practice, yet from such the best judges are made, and this is the time for ability and popularity to go to the front. It would be demoralizing to endorse the republican candidate.

Official display and enforcement of public virtue in Toledo is periodic, though somewhat spasmodic, also. One can never tell when it is going to break out or how long it will last. To-day it is aimed at the gamblers and pool rooms. The Chief of Police, with consent of the police board, has issued a proclamation with a whereas, and the gentlemen of doubtful leisure will have to leave town or remain quiet for a season. The paroxysm is violent at present but it will pass off in time. Such things always do in Toledo.

Over against the list of increased mortgages on farms in rich and fertile Illinois, a Chicago journal publishes a list of the 340 millionaires resident in the state. And this is but an example of the conditions in other states. During the years that this aggregation of wealth on the one hand and these recorded losses on the other hand have been in progress, the political party in power has legislated, avowedly and professedly, with an eye single to the benefit of the agriculturist and the laborer! And the same party is petting the producer in the same old way, for campaign purposes, and the perpetual wonderment is that so many sit, blindfolded, believing they are being aided when results show that they are being robbed every year of their lives and every day in the year—robbed through legislation maintained by the ballot.

THE REWARD OF LABOR.

More than anything else the word protection is used by the republican party to fool the wage earners into the belief that high tariff maintains high wages. Were this true entire contentment and universal prosperity would result. Unfortunately for the high tax jawsmiths the facts reveal an entirely different state of affairs. Since the McKinley law took effect there have been 473 strikes in this country against the reduction of wages. Not for higher wages, not for other reasons, but all to prevent the reduction of wages. This is the record of the practical effect of the McKinley law in labor circles. How much more of McKinleyism do the wage earners desire?

DANGEROUS EXAMPLE.

The public is familiar with the circumstances which attended the shooting of Ed Gavin in the Fifth Ward by Policeman Olms. The man committed no crime, may have been a little under the influence of liquor, but was not a suspect and only refused to stop when ordered to do so by Olms. It is not of testimony that the man even resisted the officer, but it is admitted that the policeman pulled his gun and blazed point blank at Gavin and inflicted a serious wound.

An officer who would so forget himself on duty should not be on the force, but Olms is not only still there but by a vote of four to one the police board exonerates him from all blame. He is not even censured, but is commended, and it is also of record that one commissioner, Doville, declares the policy of the board to be to advise every policeman in Toledo to shoot all persons who refuse to stop when ordered so to do. This is dangerous practice and outrageous example. The laws of Ohio do not sanction such recklessness and public opinion is decidedly opposed. Olms should be discharged and Doville should be reprimanded by resolution of his fellow members.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES

For County Offices—Men of Excellent Character and Ability.

Jacob Kohn, democratic candidate for county recorder, was born and raised in Toledo, and has spent his life in this city. He obtained his education in the Toledo common schools, and at a very early age embarked in the wholesale drug business. He conducted this business for a number of years and then engaged in the retail drug business.

During President Cleveland's administration he was a clerk in the internal revenue office under Collector George L. Johnson. When the office was turned over to the republicans, he became manager of the Toledo Picture Frame company, afterwards the Lucas Molding company. On December 6, 1891, this institution was destroyed by fire, and Mr. Kohn has since been settling up the affairs of the corporation.

He is a man of fine business qualifications, popular with the young men of the city, and a gentleman on every occasion.

The election of Wm. G. Root, the democratic candidate for county surveyor, would be equivalent to a guarantee that the business connected with that important office would be conducted in such a manner as to give perfect satisfaction to the taxpayers.

Mr. Root has had several years' experience as a civil engineer, and is peculiarly qualified for this position. He learned engineering under City Civil Engineer Bodette about ten years ago, and has been continuously employed in the office of the city civil engineer ever since, during both republican and democratic administrations. With the exception of the present season he has been the city's overseer of all the paving that has been put down since 1887.

Mr. Root was married in 1885, and is now the father of two children. He has always been a democrat, and says he always will be. He was born here in Toledo in 1863 and educated at the public schools. He also attended the high school, but did not remain there quite long enough to graduate. As an efficient and practical engineer he has no superior in Toledo, and the voters of Lucas county would reflect credit on themselves by giving him a good majority in November.

Mr. Luther C. Gibbs is not unknown to the people of Lucas county. He has been a resident of Richfield township for years, and probably no man in the county is better versed as to its needs than is Mr. Gibbs. He has served in the office for which he is again the nominee, and gave excellent satisfaction. Mr. Gibbs has always been a devoted member of the democratic party, and has not refrained from making hopeless races in the past when the lot has fallen upon him. With the characteristic energy of the farmer he takes hold of every duty with vigor, and in the present canvass will not be found lagging. There are many reasons why Mr. Gibbs should be elected, chief among which is that the interests of the taxpayers would be best subserved by a minority representation on the board of county commissioners. As it now stands, the board is composed of three republicans, which is manifestly unfair. Since such a good man can be had, it is wise to elect L. C. Gibbs.

Joseph Gates, the nominee for infirmary director, is a genial gentleman and a thorough business man, respected and trusted by all who have had dealings with him. He was born in Austria and came to Toledo when a mere boy. He located in Toledo in 1854, where his father began business as a contractor. In 1872 young Gates opened a drug store on the corner of St. Clair and Perry streets, but later moved to the corner of Summit and Perry, where he did a splendid business for six years. Nine years ago he moved on to Adams street, and now owns the handsome block in which his store is located on the corner of Adams and Erie streets.

Mr. Gates is a man, therefore, of means and will, if elected, make just such a business official as the office of infirmary director has so long and so sadly needed.

MRS. HARRISON.

She Bears Up Well Under Her Illness.

Although in a Very Serious Condition She Is No Worse.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Harrison passed the night fairly well, sleeping by snatches, and this morning is reported as feeling somewhat refreshed. She did not show any ill effects from her long and fatiguing journey from Loon Lake, her sole desire to be again in the White House having sustained her in the removal.

This morning she tooks some light nourishment without discomfort and even seemed to relish it.

Mrs. Harrison's room overlooks the monument grounds which are now dotted with innumerable white tents, about which thousands of G. A. R. people are continually moving. All this army life, however, passes unnoticed by the invalid who remains on her bed, too weak to rise and little interested in anything.

She has a keen sense of her condition, but seems to endeavor to hide her own apprehension from others, so tender she is of causing them pain or uneasiness.

The rear part of the whitehouse grounds has been closed so that no noise can reach her, and though during the past four days 40,000 people a day have passed in and out of the white house the carpets have been so deadened to noise that not a sound of the tramping thousands reaches the upper portions of the executive mansion.

A ROYAL VISITOR

On a Tour of Inspection of the Large Cities,

And Toledo Comes in for a Short Look.

The Matter of Disease and Wherein Various Countries View the Same Differently—Interesting Talk.

It is not very often that a plebian American newspaper man is granted a tete-a-tete with royalty, but this afternoon a Bee had the high honor, if such it can be called, in a country where there is no royalty outside of protected manufacturers and proteges of John Sherman.

The party of the first part was H. R. M. Millet Dellava, post school of the Royal Coat of Arms of Egypt and France, etc., etc., etc., etc. Millet, for that's what the visitor will be called for brevity's sake, is a woman, and a rather good-looking and very energetic woman at that. She said she belonged to the royal family of Egypt, that her ancestry dates back to the time of the Pharaohs, and that in the course of time, if she is properly qualified in other respects, she will occupy the throne of Egypt.

She is a slightly built woman of medium size with rather light hair, and her face is bronzed and freckled by exposure and travel. She was dressed in a worsted dress with immense red checks, and had a bundle of wraps on her arm, an aligator satchel in one hand and an umbrella in the other.

When a Bee struck her—or, more properly speaking, when she struck a Bee—she had just left the headquarters of the board of health and was tripping down the stairs like a school girl.

Thinking that perhaps something unusual had happened the Bee asked her the occasion of such unseemly haste, and she replied that she had just been to the health office and was hurrying to catch a train. She consented, however, to answer a few questions concerning herself and the object of her visit to Toledo.

"Well," said she, with a pouting expression in her face, "you are the first newspaper man that ever interviewed me. I avoid newspaper men as a general rule, but I suppose I must tell you something.

"My headquarters are in Edinburgh and I am in the employ of the Coat of Arms of England. I have been around the world three times and I'm now making my fourth circuit. I am inspecting the various large cities in America and Canada, and the boards of health connected therewith. My object in doing so is to caution foreign governments to quarantine against any contagious disease that may exist in this country. In a nutshell that is the object of my present visit here.

"Why, you Americans talk about cholera in Europe, when you have something infinitely worse right in your own country. The grip, for instance, was nothing more or less than cholera in another form, and hereafter foreign countries will establish quarantines against it.

"I have been all over the United States and have discovered contagious diseases in many places. In seventeen cities I discovered the existence of old time army scurvy, and that is infinitely worse than the cholera. I have acquainted European governments with the existence of this disease in America and they will undoubtedly take measures to keep it out of their respective countries.

"The cholera scare in Europe is not half as great as the American papers picture it. You can state in your paper, if you want to, that the European doctors do not inoculate people to protect them from the disease. Other measures are resorted to, but I haven't the time to explain what they are. It would take too long. The first precaution that should be taken, in my estimation, is the closing of all theaters, churches and other public places. When this is done the disease is confined to the quarters where it originates. I have known of nurses leaving patients who were convalescent from an attack of cholera and going to theaters without making a change of clothing.

"I came to Toledo from Detroit and leave this afternoon for Chicago. From there I am going to New York City, and afterwards through Canada. I belong to the royal family of Egypt, but must qualify myself to properly perform the duties of a ruler before I can sit on the throne. I am in the direct line of succession, and if I live I suppose I will some time rule over Egypt, for the crown belongs to me. This is the seventh year that I have been doing the work that I am now engaged in."

At this point the fair interviewer insisted that she must go. She was due at the Pennsylvania station to inspect some immigrants who were about due on the early afternoon train.

The above interview is given for what the public thinks it is worth. It is genuine in every particular. The lady may be a crank, and on the other hand she may not. Subsequent developments will probably determine her real status. She talked fluently and with ease, and showed a high degree of intelligence.

THE FOREIGNER DOES NOT PAY THE TAX.

The plea for a tariff tax on foreign goods, is that the foreigner can produce certain articles, by reason of cheaper labor, at a cost which prevents their profitable production in this country, because of dearer labor. But if the foreigner sells his goods to our importers, enough cheaper, by reason of the tariff tax, as to make them to them at the same old price, how are our manufacturers protected?

If the foreigner pays the tariff tax, why is the rebate allowed on goods made of tariff taxed material, and exported, given to the home manufacturer, instead of to the foreigner, who, we are told, paid the tax which is rebated?

If the foreigner pays the tariff tax, how is it that taking off this tax from any article always makes them cheaper to the consumer here?

If the tariff tax does not increase the price of imported goods, as protectionists tell us, how then can our home manufacturers, who get no more for their goods now than before the tariff, how, I ask, can they raise the wages of their employes, by reason of the tariff tax? It is said by protectionists that the tariff tax is such an encouragement to home manufacture that the number of home manufactories is greatly increased and that this state of things provokes sharp competition among them, so that their productions come cheaper to consumers than before the tariff. If they are compelled by this competition to sell cheaper than before the tariff, how in the name of logic, can they raise the wages of their workmen? We know they do not do this, and we see the reason why they do not.

If the foreigner pays the tariff tax, why do smugglers run the risk they do? Why do they not honestly go through the custom house if they can do so, by shouldering the tariff tax on the foreigners?

CHARLES CRAVENS.
Toledo, Ohio.

THE BOGUS LORD.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Lord Charles Beresford, or La Salle, who was arrested here yesterday on a charge of blackmail preferred by his father-in-law, Millionaire Lilienthal, of New York, was held this morning to await the arrival of officers from Georgia bearing requisition papers. He is charged with forgery and this morning Gov. Flower received a telegram from the governor of Georgia for his detention until papers could arrive.

FALSE RUMOR.

Pittsburg, Sept. 22.—At the office of General Superintendent Watts, of the Pennsylvania company, is was stated today that the report that a number of the passengers on train No. 6, wrecked at Shreve, O., yesterday, were still missing, had been thoroughly investigated and was without foundation.

AT A SIDING.

Two Trains Pile Up at a Switch.

Davenport, Ia., Sept. 22.—As the Rock Island passenger and mail train, No. 4, from the west, was approaching the side-track at Farnum, seven miles west of here, a little before 1 this morning, it crashed into a heavily loaded freight pulling in from the main line onto the side-track. The engine was struck squarely in the center, splintering eight freight cars.

Engineer Thompson, of the passenger escaped by jumping, but Fireman Maroney was caught and badly injured. The engine was completely skinned, while the postal car, the only one saved in the Blue Island wreck, was completely wrecked. The postal clerks miraculously escaped injury; the baggage car and smoker were ditched. No passengers were injured. The wreck will cost the Rock Island road in the neighborhood of $70,000.

OTTAWA'S CANDIDATE.

The Name of Chas. Roose Creates Enthusiasm.

If Nominated His County Would Turn Up An Awful Vote.

Oak Harbor, Sept. 22.—(Special)—Great interest has been created here by the announcement that Hon. Chas. Roose is a candidate for the nomination for congress. Mr. Roose is one of the oldest pioneers of Ottawa county. He came here a poor man, cleared a space in the woods for a log hut, and has risen to be one of the richest, brainiest and most influential men in this part of the state. He has held many public offices and has a character without a blot. Oak Harbor feels justly proud that it has a man of such qualities. If Hon. Chas. Roose receives the nomination Ottawa county will have the greatest democratic majority in its history.

WHEW!

But Police Commissioner Doville is Warm.

A Sample Conversation Had With the Gentleman Who Holds Down a Seat in the Police Board.

Police Commissioner Doville supplemented his action at the police board meeting last night by getting hot under the collar this morning. When seen by a Bee he was in a sate of mind that boded ill for everyone who didn't think his way. He was charmingly frank, and talked in his usually fluent manner and with a reckless disregard of the Biblical injunction against taking the Lord's name in vain.

Referring to the action of the police commissioners last night and to the existence of gambling rooms, policy shops, and pool rooms where the results of horse races are received, Mr. Doville said:

"By G—, it's about time these G— d— places were closed up; that's what. Say, and by G— if I have anything to say they will be closed d— quick. I haven't any sympathy for those G— d— fools who go into gambling hells and lose their money. It serves 'em right, d— 'em, and they ought to lose, but it's a G— d— shame to inveigle young boys into such places and learn them to gamble. The saloons ought to be closed on Sunday, too. The saloonkeepers, G— d— 'em, are no better than other people. These G— d— people who run the pool room over in Wallace's will have to close up, by G—, and so will the d— policy shops. I don't know where any policy shops are, but by G— I can find out."

At this interesting point in the conversation, which took place near the corner of Madison and St. Clair streets, an electric car was stopped by the brimstone in the atmosphere, and the Bee had a chance to escape and get a little fresh air.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES

Held by the Jewish Churches in Remembrance

Of Their Happy New Year—Impressive Address by Rev. Dr. J. Wechsler, of Meridian, Mississippi.

The celebration of the Jewish New Year began last evening at sundown, with appropriate religious services at the Union street orthodox synagogue, and the Reformed Jewish temple on Tenth street.

At the latter church, Rabbi Weschler, of Meridian, Miss., conducted the service, assisted by President Bloch, of the Shomer Emunim congregation, and Dr. Hubert.

In his introductory remarks President Bloch wished his audience a happy New Year, and presented Rev. Weschler, whom, he stated, is a candidate for the office of rabbi in the congregation.

The rabbi, after an opening prayer and chant by the choir, read from the Bible several passages of scripture, the choir assisting in this part of the service.

Rev. Weschler then addressed the congregation on the importance of fittingly celebrating these holy days, and prayed for the prosperity and spiritual growth of the congregation, and the audience dispersed.

The service was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning, and the gathering was nearly as large as that of last night.

Rabbi Wechsler conducted it, reading from the scrolls of the law, and the singing was very fine, the members of the quartet being Miss Elizabeth Doolittle, soprano; Mrs. Frederick R. Persons, alto; Adolph Dietisch, basso, and Prof. Jas. Wylie, organist and tenor.

After the solemn devotional service, Rabbi Wechsler delivered an eloquent sermon from the text, "Happy is the people who know and understand the voice of the trumpet. In thy light and in thy countenance let us walk."

He said this New Year is a great Remembrance day. What thoughts are in our minds of the days that are past? What expectations have been fulfilled, and what disappointments have been ours? What have you gained this past year? What have you done for the good of humanity and your fellow men?

But our happiest reflections are given us, not by what we have gained of material or worldly wealth, but if we know that we have sympathized with our brother and sister in time of need, and have benefited society at large, then are we made happy by the consciousness of good deeds done, and by the good done for our immortal soul, and then have you faithful discharge of your duties as true Israelites.

The services will be again held Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock, when Rabbi Wechsler will speak on the "Past, Present and Future of Judaism."

He will also preach Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The services for the Day of Atonement begins Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, and at 4 p. m.

Services at the orthodox Jewish church on Union street began last night at 5:30, and were continued at 6 o'clock this morning, Rabbi Joseph Levy, conductor.

There is no music, and the congregation keep their heads covered, the men and women sitting in different portions of the church.

In England they do not chew gum, looking upon the habit as vulgar and low, but the Australians have already taken kindly to it, and are indulging freely.

A POSSIBLE STRIKE.

The Street Car Men Refuse to Endanger Their Lives

By Running Cars Over the Shaky Field Avenue Bridge—They Are Ordered to Run or Leave.

At a special meeting held last night, the street car employes decided that they would no longer endanger their lives by running cars over the Field avenue bridge.

The bridge has long been considered unsafe, and the passengers have for sometime refused to ride over, so they have been allowed to walk, but the men have been compelled to run the cars over.

They are afraid to do it, however, and at the meeting last night, decided to refuse to go over the bridge after 8 o'clock this morning.

Superintendent Lang was seen in regard to the matter and he said: "Certainly, we have no intention of requiring our men to endanger their lives in any way. Personally, I apprehend no danger, and engineers, whom I have had examine the bridge, say there is none, but if the men are afraid to go, they will not be asked to do so."

It has been given out, however, that the men have been told they could run the cars over, or leave.

There will be another meeting to-morrow evening, and if it is true that any such edict has gone forth, it is quite likely there will be a strike.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

Proceedings of Their Secret Session.

They Will Be Present Themselves at the Polls and Ask To Be Allowed to Vote.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The following report of the proceedings of a national nominating convention of woman suffragists, which appears to have conducted its proceedings with unusual privacy, has furnished to the United Press, authenticated by the signatures of Anna M. Parker, president, and Elizabeth Powers, secretary:

At the parlors of the Willard hotel yesterday (September 21), under the call of April 26, a national convention of women suffragists was held through the auspices of delegates from Victoria leagues of the different states.

Mrs. Anna Parker, of St. Louis, was called to the chair, and Elizabeth Powers, of Providence, R. I., secretary. The call from the states brought out 28 representatives selected by state conventions from New Jersey, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Missouri, Colorado, Oregon, California, North Carolina, South Carolina, South Dakota, Florida, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kansas, New Hampshire, Maine, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Mississippi Vermont, Pennsylvania.

The states of Wyoming, North Dakota and Washington sent no representatives. There were 50 delegates in all. On motion of Mrs. Windish, of New York city, Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin, New York and London, was nominated for president of the United States. Mrs. Cynthia Leonard, of New Jersey, Mrs. Linda Slaughter, of Washington, and Mrs. Mary L. Stow, of California, were put in nomination for vice president. Mrs. Stowe receivtd the largest number of votes for vice president. The platform reads as follows:

"Whereas, Under the fourteenth amendment no citizen is deprived of the franchise through law, but by custom and habit.

"Therefore, Be it resolved, we, the representative women of America, ask the officers in charge of the election precincts through the United States in the coming campaign, to give us the opportunity to cast our ballots on the first Tuesday in November, 1892, for our candidates.

"Resolved, That by the united effort of the women voters of this nation we will drive anarchy, crime, insanity and drunkenness from our midst by our humanitarian efforts backed by the ballot."

CHOLERA.

The Scare in Entierly Over in New York.

New York, Sept. 22.—There were no new cases or suspected cases of cholera reported to the board of health this morning and President Wilson is of opinion that the disease has been nipped in the bud. There are now only seven houses in the city under quarantine, but that, as Dr. Wilson says, is merely as a precaution.

NO MERCY FOR HER.

Mrs. Anna Sainio Must Be Beheaded.

She Poisoned Her Husband and Must Pay the Penalty for Her Crime.

Helsingfors, Sept. 22.—The court of appeals of Finland has not only refused to commute but increased the severity of the sentence of Mrs. Anna Sainio, who was sentenced to death for the murder of her husband, Prof. Sainio, of the Finland State college.

Mrs. Sainio was much younger than her husband. According to her confession she had become involved in debt and concluded to take her husband's life in order to obtain the amount, equal to about $2,500, for which he was insured.

He was sick, and instead of giving him his regular medicine she gave him a capsule containing strychnine. She was sentenced to be beheaded and her body burned.

Clemency was asked on the ground that she has a babe still at her breast. A petition has been extensively signed asking the czar, who is grand duke of Finland, to commute the sentence.

The sentence of the court of appeals of Finland in the case of Mrs. Sainio is, that having first had an opportunity to listen to the ministrations of a clergyman, and being prepared to die, she shall have her right hand cut off and then be beheaded.

LEFT THE TRACK.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 22.—A special to the Journal from Sibley, Ia., says that a disastrous wreck occurred on the Burlington road between that place and Ocheydan at 11 o'clock last night. Freight No. 6, eastbound, was going at a high rate of speed when the track slipped from under it and precipitated the engine and sixteen cars down a fifteen foot embankment. Three emigrants were killed.

The Hindu hells, or narakes, are 136. The walls of the principal of these are over 100 miles in thickness, and their shine of fire is so fierce that they burst the eyes of those who look at them even from the distance of 400 leagues.

INJURING TRADE.

Baltimore Protests Against the Brazalian Quarantine.

Baltimore Protests Against the Brazilian the establishment of quarantine at Brazil against all vessels from United States ports, a conference of those interested in Brazilian trading ships from this port was held yesterday.

A petition was drafted stating that this port was in a perfect healthy condition and asking that the quarantine be abolished until circumstances warranted such precautionary measures.

The petition will be signed by all the coffee merchants and the local health authorities, after which it will be presented to the Brazilian minister at Washington, who will be requested to present the matter to his government.

There are now running in the Brazilian trade eleven Baltimore vessels, which bring to this country 200,000 bags of coffee per year. The steamer Lisbonese was to have sailed for Para yesterday but was detained here until her entry in Brazil is assured.

NEW BOAT FOR TOLEDO.

Messrs. Hadley and Burdick Are in Bay City

Negotiating for the Purchase of One of Davidson's Latest—The Deal To Be Consummated To-Day.

Messrs. G. G. Hadley and Leander Burdick are in Bay City to-day negotiating for the purchase of one of Davidson's new steam barges.

It is understood that the deal is in the nature of a trade. The schooners Penokee and Massasoit will be given probably in part purchase. The steambarge is yet unnamed, but if secured will possibly be named after Mr. Burdick. The new boat is said to be one of the finest ever built by Davidson and is larger and finer than the Panther. She is a sister boat of the G. G. Hadley.

WARRANTS ISSUED

For the Arrest of the Citizens Who Disobeyed

Orders of the Health Board—Five Immigrants on the Way to Toledo—A Quarantine Post To Be Discontinued.

Health Officer Fisher seems determined to enforce the mandates of the health board, and he is hot on the trail of those who have disregarded its orders. This morning he had warrants issued for the arrest of I. H. Detwiler & Co., owners of the building at 230 Superior street; J. T. Newton, owner of the building at the corner of Perry and St. Clair streets; E. E. Scott, agent for a frame building on Front street, East Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. S. Madge, owners of the buildings at 811, 813, 815 and 817 Summit street, and for Chas. Benner, owner of the structure at 805 Summit street.

Dr. Fisher said that the parties mentioned above had been given the number of days' notice required by law to tear down these buildings, but they hadn't done so. He said some of them had made a few repairs, but that the others had done nothing at all, and have disregarded the mandate of the health board in its entirety.

The health officer has received notice that five immigrants, who recently arrived in New York via a Danish vessel, are en route to Toledo, and will probably reach here on the Lake Shore road this afternoon. The immigrants in question are the wife of the brother of Dr. Leiltz, of this city, and her four children. Dr. Fisher said that if the quintette could show a clean bill of health they would be allowed to debark from the train and go where they pleased.

The East Side quarantine station will probably be discontinued Saturday.

THE LITTLE CRICKET.

What are you saying,
  You dear little cricket,
Chirping so shrill
  In the dark-green thicket?
Piping and singing
  The whole night through;
Don't you get tired
  And wet with dew?

You teach me a lesson,
  You dear little cricket,
Never tired and cross
  In the dark-green thicket;
I weary and fret
  Over duty so soon;
But you keep so busy
  You're always in tune.

I will try to be like you,
  You dear little cricket,
Chirping away
  In the dark-green thicket;
Whatever God bids me
  I'll do with my might,
Though its only the singing
  A song in the night.
—Little Corporal.

HOW IT TURNED OUT.

David Pole had brought with him a breath of the cold outside air into the room where his sister Naomi was ironing. A very old woman was cowering over the stove.

"What ye got?" the old crone demanded, as young Pole flung a bunch of birds on the table.

"Something for breakfast, granny," said he. "I've been hunting in Callet woods. Not much luck, though. I say, Naomi, I wish'd you'd hurry up supper."

"What for? It ain't supper time yet, and I've got all the towels to do yet."

"Oh, bother the towels! I want to go over to Skene's Corners to-night and see Miss Stuart's new piano."

"Humph!" Naomi ironed awy with redoubled zeal. "Miss Stuart's new piano, indeed! I wish Miss Stuart was further, and her new piano, too! But you're like all the rest, Dave—a new face turns your head. Hessie Holt and her poor little parlor organ ain't much account now."

"Eh? What ye talkin' 'bout? Who's Miss Stuart? Is Hessie Holt's organ out o' tune ag'in?" crooned out the old woman by the fire.

"Granny don't know," said Naomi. "I guess she's the only one that don't. Miss Stuart, granny? Why, she's the latest fashion at Skene's Corners. She's the new schoolma'am. Ask our Dave if you want to know all about her. Ask any of the young fellers!"

"Ask John Classon!" added David angrily. "Naomi's jealous—that's what ails Naomi."

Naomi compressed her full red lips and ironed resolutely on. And in a moment David was gone.

The clock had just struck 6, and granny was stirring the homely brown sugar into her first cup of tea, when a gentle knock sounded on the warped panel of the outside door. Naomi rose to answer the summons.

A beautiful young woman, with red-gold hair, light blue eyes, and a complexion as delicate as a rose-leaf, stood there, wrapped in a scarlet and black plaid shawl.

"Miss Pole?" she said hesitatingly.

Naomi inclined her head stiffly.

"Yes," said she, "that is my name."

"I am Eda Stuart."

Again Naomi bowed frigidly.

"I've started out to visit a sick pupil—Louisa Ledyard—and I'm afraid I've lost my way. I hadn't any idea it would grow dark so soon and I must be back by 7 o'clock, for I expect some friends to try a new piano that I have had sent me from Boston. Your brother has half promised to come, Miss Pole. Won't you accompany him?"

"David isn't at home," said Naomi, with a sidewise glance at the road down which her brother had strode some time ago. "And I don't care nothin' about pianos."

Miss Stuart colored and shrank back. She felt as if this hard, handsome brunette had slapped her in the face.

"Perhaps, then, said she, "you can tell me the nearest way home. It's quite dark, you see, and," brushing some white, needle-like particles out of her face, "it's beginning to snow."

"Keep right along the path till you come to the old stone tavern," said Naomi, indifferently. "Then turn to the right and it ain't more'n half a mile, or maybe three-quarters!"

And Naomi banged the door shut.

As she sat eating her supper and helping granny to fresh supplies of home-made bread and butter, a sudden thought darted into her mind.

In giving Miss Stuart the directions for finding her way back to Skene's Corners she had forgotten the neighborhood characteristics.

It was true that the regular road branched off to the right of the ruined pile which had once been an old stone tavern, but there was also a disused thoroughfare which led through a dismal quarry, across a rotten corduroy road, which had nearly sunk into one of these frightful quaking bogs which sometimes appear in the dense and swampy woods.

A sudden light blazed in her eyes, as if satan's self had flashed a lurid bombshell across her soul. John Classon, her own "steady company," had been dazzled—at least so spoke the tongue of popular rumor—by the glitter of Eda Stuart's sea-blue eyes. She, the late belle of Skene's Corners, was quite out of fashion now!

Though Naomi hated the beautiful girl she rose up again, and reached down the lantern that David had replaced on its hook by the kitchen chimney. She lighted the lantern, bundled a shawl around her head and rushed out into the frozen darkness.

She gained some distance by climbing nimbly over a stone wall and traversing a stubbly meadow, instead of following the windings of the road, and presently arrived, panting for breath, at the ruined stone tavern.

For one second she hesitated; then, changing the lantern from one hand to the other, she started on a run down the disused track until she came to the spot where here and there a partially-submerged log betokened the former traces of the corduroy road.

Once more Naomi called:

"Miss Stuart! Miss Stuart!"

"Oh, is that you? Do come here and help me!" a terrified voice answered. "I stepped on a broken log, and I think the ground must be swampy here; the log seems to be sinking in. But I've got tight hold of a young birch tree."

Naomi sprang to the rescue. Eda had already set her feet upon the doomed spot. In another moment the rescuer would have been too late.

With a strength at which she herself afterwards marvelled Naomi seized Eda around the waist and lifted her out of the morass.

Eda's face in the glimmer of the lamplight was very white.

"Oh, how can I ever find words to thank you?"

"Never mind that now," said Naomi, in the old, brusque way. "Let us make haste to Skene's Corners. It's snowing faster at every moment, and your feet are wet in that morass. Look. Here's where you missed the right road. There are the lights of Skene's Corners now."

"But you are coming with me?"

"No. I must hurry back to granny. But"—she hesitated and flushed deeply—"you will kiss me just once to—show—that—we are friends?"

By way of answer Eda flung both her arms around Naomi Pole's neck and showered a score of fragrant kisses on her cheeks, lips and brow.

* * * * * * * * *

"It's high time you were here, Naomi," petulantly uttered old Granny Pole, "when here has John Classon been a settin' half an hour before the fire waitin' for you to come back."

John Classon colored a little as he held out his broad, sun-browned hand to Naomi.

"You see," said he, "I 'ave came over to our house to see my cousin Hessie, and—and I thought it would be a good chance to tell you what I've wanted to tell you so long. Can't you guess what it is, Naomi?"

It was late when Dave came home. Grandma Pole had long been abed and asleep, but Naomi sat before the dying fire, thinking.

"Hullo, Naomi! you up?" was Dave's off-hand greeting. "I've got news for you. I've engaged myself to Hessie Holt, and if the crops turn out good next year my wife shall have as good a piano as Miss Eda Stuart!"—Buffalo News.

HER BONES ARE LIKE GLASS.

They Break With a Snap Whenever She Moves or is Helped Along.

Barboursville, W. Va., Sept. 3.—A peculiar case of bone-breaking in this vicinity is attracting the attention of the medical fraternity throughout half the state. Mrs. Peter Kelly, wife of a well-known citizen, is the victim of a disease which the local surgeons and doctors, for want of a better name, call fragilitas osium. Mrs. Kelly, who is a delicate lady, was just getting around after a long and serious illness when, a few nights since, she got out of bed and started downstairs to get a drink of water.

When but a few steps down one of the bones of her right leg broke with a peculiar glass-like snap, without having come in contact with anything and from no apparent cause. She called her husband, and he picked her up and started back toward the bedroom with his wife, when the bones of her right and left arms broke in several places with the same peculiar snap heard and felt by the woman when the first fracture occurred.

Mrs. Kelly was carried to the bedroom and laid on the bed, when the bones of her left leg broke in the same manner. A surgeon was immediately sent for. He set the broken limbs and bandaged them. Mrs. Kelly said that she felt no pain when any of the fractures occurred, and that the setting and bandaging of her broken limbs occasioned her not the slightest discomfort.

The disease is a strange one, and the outcome is awaited with a great deal of curiosity and interest. The physicians say the bone-breaking is caused by a deficiency of animal and a superabundance of mineral matter in the bones. They say the bones will knit very rapidly, but that the disease is difficult to cure.

ASSERTING WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

Austrian Ladies of Title in a Duel With Real Blood.

The Pall Mall Gazette asks its readers to believe the following:

"No small sensation has been made by the report of a duel between two ladies of the high Austrian nobility. The Princess Pauline Mettenrich, the honorary president of the Vienna musical and theatrical exhibition, and the Countess Kilmannsegg, the wife of the Statthalter of lower Austria, and president of the ladies' committee of the exhibition, had a fearful quarrel over some arrangements at the exhibition.

"The affair was regarded as so serious that it could only be settled by blood. The ladies traveled to Vaduz, the capital of the little principality of Lichtenstein, on the Swiss frontier, and a duel was fought with rapiers. At the third round the princess was slightly wounded on the nose and the countess on the arm.

"Thereupon the two seconds, Princess Schwarzenberg and Countess Kinsky, advised them to embrace, kiss and make friends, which accordingly they did. Their wounds were attended to by Baroness Lubinska, a Polish lady who has studied medicine and obtained a doctor's degree, whom they had prudently sent from Warsaw to attend the duel."

One of the latest applications of electricity to mining operations is seen in the Metternich lead mine in Belgium. Each bucket arriving at the top of the shaft makes an electric contact, and a needle in the office indicates by a red line upon a revolving drum the number of buckets brought up.

A manufacturing concern in Brooklyn has substituted a large fan for a smokestack. By the draught created the smoke, dust and gases from several furnaces are drawn into a brick apartment that has a low chimney. Small pipes conveying water open into the apartment, and as the water escapes it is sprayed over the apartment by means of steam jets. Whatever gases may be present escape by way of the chimney.

A French perfumer has been making tests of California roses, and discovered that they possess 20 per cent more of the volatile oil than the French roses. This means the development of a new industry for California. The French perfume factories of the town of Grasse alone give employment to 5,000 persons. It is said that 50 cents per pound is paid for some flowers.

It is claimed that the little steam yacht, Yankee Doodle, which was burned at Philadelphia recently, made the fastest mile of any craft afloat. Last July 4 she steamed a mile in 2 minutes and 13 1-2 seconds. The boat was fifty feet long, with a six feet six inch beam. Her rival was the Norwood, owned by Norman L. Munro, of New York, who claims his boat made a mile in 2 minutes and 12 seconds; at least that rate was determined by computing her revolutions.

Bernhardt, who was recently in Brussels, expressed herself there with contempt regarding the cholera. Indeed, according to the London News, she felt sure there was no such malady. There might be an atmospheric state favoring its production in unhealthy people, but that was all. The cholera microbe seemed to her the most absurd child of the human imagination. She is willing to go to any single cholera-stricken town to give a benefit in favor of the so-called victims of cholera.

David Bruce, inventor of the type-casting machine, who died in Brooklyn last Tuesday, was born in Scotland 90 years ago. In 1838 he got out various patents that covered a machine run by hand which would turn out 80 or 90 type a minute. He went to Boston and sold the patent rights, after the machine had been shown to be of practical use. He was not satisfied with the machine and kept experimenting until he had perfected one that could be used with steam.

To illustrate how widely read a man is Sir Lyon Playfair, one of the new additions to the British peerage, the Pall Mall Gazette gives this list of authors from whom (in addition to several pure scientists) he quoted in his presidential address to the British association in 1885: Emerson, Washington, Swift, Frederick William of Prussia, Shakspeare, Milton, Voltaire, Epictetus, Goethe, Virgil, Euripides, Swedenborg, Addison, Chi Hwang-ti, Antipater, Homer, Solomon, Jules Simon, Horace Mann, Ali Mahomet, Pope Philip the Good, Plato, Aristotle, and the prince consort.

The room in a Spring Garden street house, Philadelphia, which was the scene of Mme. Blavatsky's only trance prophesy in America, is now the study of an enthusiastic disciple of esoteric Buddhism. The disciple is a girl of 20 who came to Philadelphia expressly to witness Mme. Blavatsky's feat, and she has since lived in the house, which she deems sacred. The girl has an independent income and is studying the Rig Veda in the original Indian dialect. She reads Chinese as well as English and has given up her friends to live a life of solitary meditation. Her sole amusement is to play the piano and read Sappho's poetry. Her income is derived from investments in Chicago real estate and she gives $1,000 yearly to charity.

Alphonse Daudet has passed the summer at his country home in France preparing for the printer's hand his latest volume, soon to be published in Paris under the title "Soutien de Famille." The book details the history of the family of a wealthy manufacturer who dies a bankrupt and a suicide, leaving a widow with two sons. One son, the "spoiled darling" of the family, develops into a scape-grace, whose treatment of his mother is cruel in the extreme, while the other, fed on the husks of affection, retrieves the family fortunes in the good old way. The plot is far from new, but there is the usual promise of novelty in its treatment by M. Daudet's pen.

CATHOLIC AFFAIRS.

The Leaders of the Church Are Far Apart.

Archbishop Ireland and Father Wurst Are of Opposite Opinions.

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 22.—The sensational feature of the proceedings of the German Catholic Central society was the speech of Rev. Father Wurst, of Wabasha in support of the following resolution, offered by him and signed by the entire Minnesota delegation:

"Whereas, Senator Davis of Minnesota, in a session of the United States senate of April 22 on the discussion of the bill for the exclusion of the Chinese, stated: 'There is more matter for profound concern in the attempts of Herr Cahensly made last year to denationalize American institutions and plant as many nations as there are people of foreign tongues in our midst than in all the Chinese questions that have arisen since 1858.' This accusation, coming from an United States senator, is one of the most serious that has ever been flaunted in the faces of our German Catholic citizens. Our German Catholic brethren are accused in these remarks of treachery and treacherous conduct against American citizens.

"Resolved, That the president of this society is hereby instructed to request Senator Davis to withdraw these remarks publicly. Should he, however, refuse to withdraw them we will consider it our duty to appeal to our Catholic brothers in Minnesota to use all honorable means to prevent Senator Davis' re-election. While our organization is foreign to politics we consider this grievous charge an insult so great that it must be resented."

Father Wurst made a fiery speech and concluded amid cheers and cries of "Good, good." The resolution was referred.

Bishop Marty of Sioux Falls made an address urging the establishment of a bureau in Chicago to take care of German Catholic immigrants.

An address to the coming convention of Archbishops in Brooklyn was adopted asking that the term secret society be unmistakably defined and a proclamation then issued forbidding Catholics under penalty of excommunication to join any society coming under the definition.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 22.—Archbishop Ireland was seen last night regarding the action taken by the German Catholics at Dubuque. The archbishop said:

"I was more than surprised in the dispatch this morning at the resolution proposed at Dubuque by the German Catholic verein. The Cahensly memorial stands condemned by both church and state, or it deserves to be, and those who would raise a defense of it would show themselves disloyal Americans and disobedient Catholics."

"SOMETHING WILL DROP."

Roosevelt Says He Will Prosecute Republicans for Assessing Officials.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 22.—Theodore Roosevelt, chairman of the civil service commission, passed through Chicago from Yellowstone Park for New York. After spending a day or two with his family in New York he will go to Washington to prosecute a number of western republicans who have been levying political assessments on Indian agents.

"I have determined," Mr. Roosevelt said to-day, "to put a stop to this assessment business. The republican national committee is not engaged in the work to my knowledge, but I am sure that some local committees have been. These I have decided to prosecute, and when I reach Washington I will commence the actions. I issued a letter recently so as to warn the employes not to pay the assessments. I have the proofs, too, that other assessments have been levied, and before long you will hear something drop. The system of obtaining this money is a bad one, and I am determined to stop it if possible."

If you had taken two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring you would not have had that coated tongue or bad taste in the mouth this morning. Keep a vial with you for occasional use.

Hurd, of the Lodge, Chicago.

The association adjourned to meet next September with the sovereign grand lodge.

PAN PRESBYTERIANS.

Great Gathering of Divines in Toronto.

Subjects of Interest to the Church To Be Discussed at Length.

Toronto, Can., Sept. 22.—The city is crowded with delegates to the great Pan-Presbyterian conference, and the proceedings of which were informally opened last evening.

The delegates here represent all branches of the Presbyterian church from all parts of the globe.

Among the English delegates are Sir George Bruce, Rev. Drs. J. M. Gibson, W. McEwen and F. Johnstone, while from Scotland come Rev. Drs. Drummond, Orr, Oliver, Ross, and Alexander.

Ireland sends Rev. Matthew Leich, Rev. George McFarland, Rev. William Park, Rev. R. D. Wyle.

The venerable Dr. McCosh of Princeton is one of the delegates-at-large from the United States.

The Reformed Church of America sends a number of noted divines, while an influential delegation comes from the Presbyterian church of New York state headed by Rev. Dr. H. M. Baird. The gathering will be theoretical rather than parliamentary or legislative, its object being to discuss subjects of theological import to the church in general.

WHO IS THIS GIRL?

A Handsome Young Woman Whose Strange Actions Puzzle Dutchess County People.

Poughkeepsie, Sept. 22.—A young woman came to this city last week and registered at the Nelson house as A. Plunkett. She ordered dinner, and said she was to attend Vassar college, and that her father would soon call at the hotel. After dinner she disappeared. She was next heard of at a private house, where she engaged board, and said she was the daughter of a French diplomat at Washington.

On Saturday she suddenly disappeared and was not heard of again until yesterday, when it was learned that she had been at the home of Charles Jackson, a farmer, who lives near Clinton Corner, 20 miles from Poughkeepsie, and had as mysteriously disappeared from that place as from the others. She told Mr. Jackson her name was Anna Schalkhausser, and that her father was to represent France at the world's fair. She also stated that her uncle was interested in the Mercantile Safe Deposit company of New York.

Her present whereabouts is not known. She is 17 years old, handsome and very accomplished. She left several letters written in the French language and some music with German words at Jackson's house.

The girl stated that she had four brothers at Harvard college and sisters at Vassar and once mentioned 239 Second street, Jersey City, as her home. Her education and refinement together with her mysterious actions, have awakened great curiosity here, and, as she is without money, it is thought she may have strayed away from home while partially deranged.

THE DALTON GANG.

They Are As Desperate Now As Ever.

Believed That Marshal Williams Has Fallen a Victim to Their Bullets.

Paris, Texas, Sept. 22.—A clew to the mystery of the Dalton gang capture was brought out yesterday which makes it nealy certain that Deputy Marshal Williams has fallen a victim. The express company wired from Deming, N. M., for a description of Sam Williams. It was stated that the man who sent the message as Sam Williams has lost a piece of his left jaw. It was learned yesterday that this is Sam Wing, the real leader of the gang, as he has had a piece shot out of his left jaw. The inference is that the gang have killed or captured Williams and learned from his papers the facts referred to, and that the message was a blind to confuse other pursuers who are also on their trail.

CRASH AT CARNEGIE'S.

Incompetent Men Shatter a Fifteen Thousand Dollar Machine.

Homestead, Sept. 22.—The shears in the 119-inch mill at the Carnegie steel works were broken, entailing a direct loss of about $15,000 to the company, and causing the suspension of work in the entire department.

In this department are made all of the larger sizes of merchant steel and armor plate. It will be necessary to send to the manufacturer of the machinery for duplicates of the broken parts, and several days must elapse before the machinery is restored. The officers decline to give any information as to the cause of the break.

It is stated that one of the workmen at the machinery was seriously injured when the break occurred. Many desertions of the non-union men are reported. It is stated that they have become very much frightened because of the withdrawal of the militia.

EMANCIPATION.

Chicago Celebrates in Grand Style.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—One of the largest emancipation celebrations ever held in the west is in progress at Kuhn's park, and the colored quarters of the city are practically deserted for the day. The exercises of the day were initiated by a lengthy parade, while the oratorical exercises were inaugurated with an address by Hon. Hale G. Parker, alternate commissioner of the world's Columbian exposition, and who was followed by Rev. F. C. Price, of North Carolina and several others. Toward the end of the proceedings the gathering took the form of a republican demonstration, and many of the state officials and candidates of the republican party mixed with the throng.

FOR THE FAIR.

New York Italians Will Do the Proper Thing.

New York, Sept. 22.—The Columbian fair, which has been arranged by prominent Italian citizens, for the purpose of raising funds to complete the amount necessary to construct the Columbus monument, will open at the Lenox Lyceum tonight and will continue through the week.

The fund still lacks several thousand dollars, but the receipts of the fair will undoubtedly more than make up the necessary amount. Italian manufacturers have contributed all sorts of curios, and the Italian ladies of the city have contributed a large amount of fancy work.

The music will be rendered by Italian artists in native costume, and the wives and daughters of many prominent Italians will preside at the booths.

WANTS HIS REWARD.

Columbus, O., Sept. 22.—Detective Schultz, of this city, has served papers on W. S. Lenhart, treasurer of Putnam county, who is here attending the county treasurers' meeting, commanding him to appear in Magistrate McDonald's court September 27 and show why he should not pay the $50 reward offered by him for the detection and conviction of the Columbus Grove murderer and bank robber. The claim for it is made by Detective M. B. Martin, of Galena, who claims to have captured and secured the conviction of Frank Van Loon, now in the annex, but has been assigned to Attorney D. H. Everett.

TO OPEN AGAIN.

Republicans Not Satisfied with the First Attempt.

Columbus, O., Sept. 22.—The state republican committee has decided on the general opening of the campaign on September 30. On that occasion Gov. McKinley will speak at Mechanicsburg; Senator Sherman at North Fairfield, Huron county; Gen. M. D. Leggett at Fremont, and Gen. W. H. Gibson and S. M. Taylor at Cadiz.

FASHIONS FOR CHILDREN.

The endless number of dresses it takes to go through a season is often a heavy pull on the purse.

A sensible way is to use Diamond Dyes, which come in all colors, and make faded clothes look like new. The brown, bottle green, and cardinal are fashionable and useful dyes, while fast stocking black will make cotton stockings a black that will not fade or crock.

BROOM CORN GOES DOWN.

Lockport, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The wholesale price of broom corn has dropped from 7 to 4 cents per pound this week. The syndicate that gathered in the visible supply last fall is going to pieces, and its members are using every effort to unload what they are carrying, in view of the big crop that is promised in the west.

THE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

Rejects a Number of Claims for Abatement of Assessments.

City Civil Engineer Miller submitted a report to the judiciary committee last evening in relation to the construction of the Wisconsin street sewer. A. S. Parker, one of the abutting property owners, alleged that he had been assessed twice for this sewer, and he asked to have one of the assessments abated. Mr. Miller explained the matter in such a manner that it was made apparent that only one assessment really had been made, and the claim was therefore rejected. A similar claim filed by Lucy Leighton was also rejected.

Judge MacGahan appeared before the committee, and in behalf of the management of St. Vincent's hospital asked for the abatement of an assessment of about $535 for the Franklin avenue sewer. The ground upon which the abatement was asked for was that inasmuch as the institution was a charitable one the assessment ought not to be made. The committee didn't look at the matter in that light and rejected the claim.

G. F. Wengert was allowed an abatement of $169.60 for assessments made against his property for the Dorr street and Collingwood avenue improvements.

Other claims were allowed as follows: Elizabeth Downey et al., assessment abatement of $450 on Broadway property near the Wabash track; Mary H. Hunt, abatement of $250 on a Knower street lot assessment; Richard Roach, abatement of $250 on property near the corner of Knower street and Maumee avenue; H. G. Dart, abatement of $25.33 on the amount assessed against him for the improvement of Lagrange street; John Degnan, abatement of $7.18 of an assessment for sewer No. 340 in Lafayette street.

The claim of Fred Osgood for an abatement of a little matter of $600 on a Lagrange street assessment was rejected on technical grounds. Several claims of minor importance were laid on the table.

IMPORTERS INTERESTED

Fumigated Goods Have Been Damaged.

Merchants Call on the Customs Collector.

Information From Washington as to the Extent of Damage the Law Permits.

New York, Sept. 22.—A delegation of importers and dealers in foreign goods visited the custom house for the purpose of having a conference with the collector of the port and the deputy in charge at the law department with reference to duties on damaged goods. It was claimed by the visitors that goods damaged by the processes of fumigation necessary to guard against the cholera would be rendered unmarketable. The following statement was made for the benefit of the public:

"Information from Washington is to the effect that Gen. Spaulding, the assistant secretary in charge of customs matters, is careful not to commit himself to a ruling in the absence of an actual case, but he says that the treasury department will be disposed to give importers the benefit of every reasonable allowance in their favor. Just how far the department can go in remitting duties cannot be determined until some actual cases come before it.

"Questions under the customs law outside of those of appraisement and classification are still within the control of the treasury department rather than of the board of general appraisers, and this power may be exercised in deciding what constitutes a legal entry and other questions relating to the treatment of goods before they are actually submitted to the appraiser to determine their value. The disposition to permit entries up to the last moment before the act of October 1, 1890, took effect would probably not stand in the way in the present emergency of a decision that entry was not complete until the vessel bringing the goods was within the jurisdiction of the customs officials. That this is the correct view is indicated by the language of article 274 of the new treasury regulations, which declares that 'all imported merchandise must be entered at the custom house of port of arrival.' This would meet the difficulty, which has been suggested, that goods could not be abandoned by the inspector which he has taken steps to enter before their actual arrival and ten days before his decision to abandon them.

"The United States, of course, has no responsibility for the injury done goods by the orders of state and local boards of health. The state municipality would be responsible unless congress should assume the liability upon the ground that the measures taken by the state or municipality of New York were for the general public benefit rather than that of the people of New York alone. The question with which the United States has more directly to deal is that of collecting full duties upon goods no longer worth their invoice value.

"The treasury officials and the general appraisers will probably be willing to make any remissions they can, where the goods are not absolutely abandoned. The remissions which can be made, however, without an abandonment of goods are small, for section 7 of the McKinley administrative act of June 10, 1890, distinctly declares that 'the duty shall not, however, be assessed upon an amount less than the invoice or entered value.' The same act imposes such penalties for undervaluations that importers are not likely to have their invoices much below the wholesale price of the goods brought in, and under this section they cannot escape the full legal duty on the goods unless they abandon them and sacrifice what little value is still left in them.

"The abolition of damages allowed by the act of June 10,1890, would make it necessary to appeal to congress for a remission of duties on such goods as were not abandoned. Congress would probably be ready to make such a remission under the circumstances, even if the two houses looked coldly upon the proposition to reimburse the state of New York for its payments to the owners of the goods. The remission of duties would not be without precedent, and would be in accordance with the principle underlying the tariff laws, that duties are to be collected only on goods entering into consumption. The old treasury regulations provided for damage allowance in the case of goods in course of transportation from one port to another under bond, but these provisions seem to have been abandoned with the provisions for damage allowance on goods arriving by sea. The importer was reduced to the alternative of paying the full duty or abandoning his goods within tens of the entry."

CURIOUS, IF TRUE.

Some Strange Stories That Are Told in Australia.

We had a talk the other day about haunted houses and other eerie things. I was interrupted at that time, but a lull in more important news enables me to get off my mind two or three other ghostly things. For example: As I rode along in one of the suburban tram cars I passed a cottage wherein a strange thing happened awhile ago. Near by lived an old man who had received many kindnesses from the true-hearted mistress of the cottage, who took compassion upon his necessity. Early one morning this lady woke in great affright. She had dreamed that the old man was calling her in frantic haste to come and help him. She looked at the clock and noted the time. It was 4:30. Later on the lifeless body of the old man was found in a well. The medical opinion was that it must have got into the water about 4:30 that morning. That was their independent testimony before they had been told the curious experience of the woman. The distance of the well from the house made it impossible that she could have heard the old man cry, if he did cry. How, then, can one explain the incident? I might relate other facts similar in their nature, all showing that there is in the world more mystery than we have yet comprehended. The task is, however, unnecessary.

I will mention another peculiar event which happened less than a year ago in this colony. A lady, wife of a gentleman in an influential position, chanced to meet at a party one night a person who had great reputation as an amateur soothsayer. "Oh, just tell me my fortune," she said, jocularly. "I'd rather not," replied the fortuneteller and looking steadily at her for a little time; "I'd rather not. It would disconcert you terribly." The lady urged her request, nevertheless. "Then," the soothsayer continued, "I'm sorry to tell you that I am afraid that in three months you will be a widow, and in six months you will be mad." The lady told her husband, who soon fell ill and died, while the other part of the prophecy was, to some extent, verified. I have called this incident peculiar, but there is in it, at any rate, some direct connection between the cause and effect. The man during his illness would certainly be depressed by the thought of the prophecy that he would not recover, and the same fact would affect the wife. Imagination, which is more potent than medicine, was set to work against the couple. That not only explains the mystery in some degree, but it illustrates the need for imaginative people to be careful how they handle occult subjects.—Kapunda Herald.

A TURKISH BAPTISM.

I was once present at the baptism of a Turkish child and will endeavor to describe this ceremony, though it is one with which many people dispense, and which is neither legal nor religious. The child was only seven days old, this being the age it is thought necessary to name him, and was lying on a bed covered with gold wire, which was tied to the bedstead with diamond pins. Some salt and a sieve being brought by the nurse, the mother took up the child and placed it in the sieve, and giving one end of it to the nurse, she took the other and shook it slightly, while the nurse placed her mouth to the child's ear and called it loudly by the name given to it.

The salt was then sprinkled over it, and after a slight prayer the sieve was shaken once more, and while the salt fell on the ground the child was ordered to obey his father and mother, after which it was taken out of the sieve and placed again in its bed, the father entering at the same moment and presenting the mother with a pair of diamond earrings and the nurse with an India shawl.—The Nineteenth Century.

SQUEAKING SANDS.

Singing sands are found in many parts of the United States, but squeaking sands are not so common. There is only one place in this country where the squeaking sand is found, and that is a small plain in south Colorado. The singing sand emits a musical sound only when dry, and loses this property on being dampened. The squeaking sand, on the other hand, is silent when dry and squeaks best and loudest when moistened. The sound it gives forth is by no means loud, but somewhat resembles the squeaking of an armchair. It sounds when rubbed between the fingers or when placed in a small bag and violently struck, but the cause of the sound is a mystery.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

GREAT BRITAIN'S SLAVES.

The English people have always had a great deal to say about their aversion to slavery, but no worse system ever existed in the world than that which prevails in some of the British colonies where coolie labor is employed. The coolies are indentured in India or China; that is, they are practically sold to the agent, who sells them again to planters. For a term of years, usually 10, they become the slaves of the planters; for petty offenses they are fined until they become hopelessly indebted to their owners; they are not allowed to leave the plantation without a pass, or, if they do, are liable to arrest as runaways. During the last few years parliamentary investigations have greatly reduced the hardships of the unfortunate Hindoos, most of whom were drawn away from their native land by misrepresentations, but much still remains to be done, especially in the mines of South Africa, before the stigma of slavery can be erased from the British empire.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

DISCRIMINATING MAN.

Briggs—That was a narrow escape Bildergate had, wasn't it? You know he was just about to marry a girl when he found that she spent $1,500 a year on her dresses.

Griggs—Yes; but he's married all the same.

Briggs—True, but he didn't marry that girl.

Griggs—He didn't; who did he marry, then?

Briggs—Her dressmaker.—Cloak Review.

CORRECTING HIMSELF.

"Who does this book belong to?" asked Mr. Livewayte, the president of the Chicago Literary society, as he took up a volume.

"Is that question grammatical?" asked his wife.

"How stupid of me, to be sure. To whom does this book belong to?"—Life.

IF SHE KNOWS HOW TO TRAVEL,

She Can Make a Happy Home for Some One.

Would it not be fortunate if all betrothed lovers could follow the precedent established by one engaged pair in England of taking the wedding journey before the ceremony instead of afterward? asks a writer in the Sun, for human nature has the right of way in all the routes by land and sea, manifesting itself with most ingenious frankness in every way.

You are better acquainted with a person after you've traveled in his company a day than you can possibly be after a year of ordinary intercourse. Of course, it might lower the marriage record some, as this particular couple referred to decided that they would exchange engagement rings in less than a week.

Her mamma took her back home and his papa went on to Monte Carlo with him to help him to forget his great disappointment.

Still, if I were a man, which, thanks be to the god of destiny, I'm not, for it must be horribly tiresome to be eternally picking up fans and handkerchiefs, getting cups of tea and glasses of water in most inconvenient places, looking after baggage and umbrellas, helping people in and out, giving up one's seat, answering questions, and holding some one's head on your shoulder—but if I were I'd like to select my bride-to-be in a railway car.

Only about one woman in a hundred knows how to travel, and you can count on her making a good wife every time.

She doesn't lace herself into a tight gown, which dust will soil and water will spot, or button her feet in new boots two sizes too small, or torture her poor head with a nobby stiff hat in which she cannot lean back against the cushions.

She doesn't put her ticket in the bottom of the biggest bag in the rack, lose her check, ask 60 questions to the minute, or the same question six times in as many seconds.

Neither does she sit on the edge of the chair and fidget about the heat or the draughts or the cinders.

No, she has a happy knack of making herself perfectly comfortable within her environment; of keeping her hat straight and her temper sweet; of arranging her belongings in most convenient and apposite places, and of looking as serene and pretty at the end of the trip as if she had just come out of the top drawer.

And by those very maneuvers a man with any sort of logic can arrive at the conclusion that she would make the cosiest little home in the world if she hadn't anything to do it with but a dry goods box and a broom and baby, and a husband coming home to tell her she was the dearest wife in the world.

He can make up his mind that he will have comfortable chairs and couches in her home, that she will hang her pictures where a person can see them without dislocating his neck, that she will wear her pretty gowns and suits when there isn't company, put the ash receiver where it is more handy to use than the floor, instead of storming about the muss a man makes without one, that she will have the beefsteak cooked rare, say her prayers and not entertain him every night with "sez she" and "sez I" of a quarrel with the cook.

Now this woman that travels well usually has, first of all, in her outfit the smartest kind of an ulster, for there are always changes of climate and unsuspected showers to try one's temper and toilet, and this ulster will be distinguished by the full quota of pockets in which to stow away the tickets which other women lose, the handkerchief which other women can never find.

The snug little hat of soft felt has a jaunty wing on one side, and the gloves are of tan dogskin to match the coat, loose and comfortable in fit.

By and by she will throw this ulster back over her chair, and you will see that beneath it she wears a camel's hair gown of light weight and in a sort of dust color which would laugh, if colors could laugh, at all the dust and dirt that work the ruin of other less well-selected traveling gowns.

Ladies never have any dyspepsia, after a wine glass of Angostura Bitters, the genuine of Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons. Ask your druggist.

MRS. SNAGGS'S VICTORY.

A Demonstration of the Fact That Mosquitoes Really Bite.

"There! Another mosquito has bitten me!" exclaimed Mrs. Snaggs, as she made a rapid slap at the insect, and only succeeded in striking the spot where it had been in operation.

"I think you are mistaken," replied Mr. Snaggs.

"Mistaken? Indeed I'm not! I know a mosquito's bite when I feel one."

"That is precisely where you are mistaken," Mr. Snaggs went on. "I know you merely follow colloquial usage in saying the mosquito bit you, but nevertheless usage is wrong. It is always well to be accurate, and in this case it is not accurate to speak of a mosquito's bite. The mosquito's operations in search of food are truly interesting, especially when he is operating on some other person's epidermis. He carries with him a remarkable kit of tools, consisting of two saws, a lance and a pump. With the lance a puncture is made in the skin, but the perforation is not wide enough for the insertion of the pump, which is to transfer a portion of your blood to the insect's stomach. So the saws are introduced and they commence to widen the puncture. It is the operation of the saws which cause the irritation to which you allude as a bite. You see, my dear, how inaccurate it is to talk of a mosquito's bite. Don't you?"

"Mr. Snaggs!"

"Well?"

"You irritate me a great deal more than the mosquitoes do. Now, I want to ask you one question."

"Go ahead."

"What constitutes a bite?"

"Well, there can be no bite without teeth."

"Then, Mr. Snaggs," exclaimed his wife, triumphantly, "I am right after all. The mosquito bites with the teeth of his saws. Mr. Snaggs, it is always well to be accurate. Now——"

But she did not finish. A yell and a vicious slap from her husband indicated that one of the mosquitoes was giving him a lesson in the use of the saws.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Mrs. J. F. Jennings, of Los Angeles, Cal., is preparing for exhibition at the world's fair a tapestry picture representing the surrender of Mary Queen of Scots to the Lords in 1567. The study is 6x4 feet, and will contain when completed the figures of 35 men and women, four horses four banners and a large tree, with a foreground of grass, shrubbery and other accessories.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the writer of "Characteristics," is tall, slightly stooped and gray. He has a sensitive, refined and highly intellectual face—one that commands respect and reverence. It would be impossible to be flippant in his presence, and one feels that any faults he may possess might well be tolerated for the sake of even a slight knowledge of him.

Cardinal Moran, the archbishop of Sidney, made a vow in early life never willingly to look upon the face of a woman. The vow, intended as a species of mortification, was rigorously kept by the cardinal from the early days of his priesthood in Rome until he became the first Australian cardinal. Cardinal Moran is a distinguished historian and a close personal friend of the present pope.

A good thing to remember. While rumors of epidemics are prevalent, is that a pure supply of ice from Devil's Lake, Mich., free from city sewage contaminated with germ and bacillus, is the only kind we are furnishing to our customers.

A STRIKING FEATURE
Of our Carpets is the phenomenal figures at which we are selling them. There isn't any other name for these figures—they are phenomenal. They are figures that make figures of speech superfluous. It is almost always the case that, as the temperature goes up, prices go down. We are not responsible for a fall in prices. If you know anything of values, if you know what is as good as two good things usually are, if you know an unparalleled opportunity when it comes your way, you won't make any mistake about seizing this one and seizing it in a hurry.
